TELL BATTLE STORY

The Famous "Applicant" and the Oregon's Commander.

SCHLEY REVIEWS CAMPAIGN

CLARK SAW BROOKLYN FIGHT AND EXTOLS COMMODORE.

Testimony of the Two Men Whose Ships and Guns Destroyed Cevera's Fleet and Ended the War.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, the "applicant" before the naval court of inquiry, was for the first time heard in his own behalf today. He began his testimony at 2 o'clock p. m., following Capt. Clark of the Oregon.

Schley's bearing in the witness chair was modest in the extreme. He went over the whole Santiago campaign.

Next to Schley himself, the American people take more interest in Capt. Clark than in any other officer who took part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet. The testimony of all witnesses has shown that it was the Brooklyn and Oregon that won the day off Santiago. While the Brooklyn was fighting three Spanish ships, and seemingly battling alone, out of the smoke the Oregon was seen almost abreast of the Brooklyn, making as much speed as that fleet cruiser, and her great guns belching shot into the Spaniards.

The sight was so inspiring that it moved Capt. Cook of the Brooklyn to say: "God bless the Oregon!" and Commodore Schley to signal, "Well done, Oregon."

Capt. Clark was called as the third witness of the day, and the last witness in Admiral Schley's behalf to be heard before the admiral himself should come on.

Clark Is a Typical Sailor.

Capt. Clark is a typical American sailor, grizzled by 40 years of service. He was born in Vermont. His wife is the daughter of Wendell T. Davis of Greenfield, Mass., and his sister is the wife of ex-United States Senator John Conness. Capt. Clark was a cadet in the naval academy at Annapolis when the civil war began, and was made a midshipman in the navy before the completion of his studies. He has long been attached to ships in Pacific waters, in the Pacific and Asiatic squadrons.

Capt. Clark described the chase after the Spanish ships on July 3, and said he was afraid at one time the Oregon would have to sustain the concentrated fire of several of the Spanish ships. Just then the smoke lifted and he discovered the Brooklyn. "She was well forward of our port beam," he said, "and broadside to the enemy's fleet. The two vessels retained their relative positions approximately to the end of the battle, the Brooklyn steaming near straight ahead, I should judge, and engaging any and all of the Spanish ships, the Oregon endeavoring to come to close action with the sternmost one, and when she was driven out of action we kept on after the next one."

Schley Was Ready for Another Fight.

Capt. Clark described a conversation that occurred in the cabin of the New York after the battle of July 3, between Sampson, Schley and himself. A strange vessel had been sighted, and it was believed to be a Spanish warship. Admiral Sampson told the witness that he would have to go after her, and the witness, thinking the stranger was a Spanish man-of-war, suggested that the Brooklyn accompany the Oregon. Then, thinking that he had been too forward in making suggestions to an admiral and a commodore, he turned to Commodore Schley and said: 'We knocked out several vessels this morning, and can knock out another one, can't we?'

"'Certainly we can; come on,' said Commodore Schley."

The witness said the commodore was cheerful and seemed to have approved his suggestion that the Brooklyn accompany the Oregon.

Every available unreserved seat in the court room was occupied half an hour today before the court was called at 11 o'clock. The announcement of the approaching close of the case and of the possibility that Admiral Schley would take the witness stand during the day had the effect of increasing the public interest and of bringing to the court room a larger number of persons than could be conveniently accommodated and a far larger number than could hear the proceedings. When the session began a number of yesterday's witnesses were recalled, as usual, for the correction of testimony, and after they had concluded, Lieutenant-Commander Charles H. Harlow continued his testimony. He had concluded his statement-in-chief when the court adjourned yesterday and he was immediately taken in hand today by Capt. Lemly for cross-examination. This was devoted principally to the notes taken by Mr. Harlow of the battle of July 3 from the Vixen's deck, but was not very extended. After Commander Harlow Rear Admiral Barker and Capt. M. C. Borden of the marines were introduced to testify to incidents of the Cuban campaign.

When Schley Testifies.

Schley's story, of course, will be the climax of the case. There is much speculation as to how the judge-advocate will handle him in cross-examination. The Sampsonites would like to see the department attorneys go at Schley hammer and tongs, but it is rumored that President Roosevelt will frown upon such a course. Friends of the administration will be relieved when the trial is out of the way, for while it drags along there is bound to be more or less friction in naval circles, which does the department no good.

Dewey Stands on the Facts.

Lieut. B. W. Wells was the first of the former witnesses called for the purpose of correcting testimony. He said in response to a question from Capt. Lemly that he had made a translation of cipher dispatch prepared at Commodore Schley's instance, on May 24, 1898, but which was never sent, and to which reference was made while Lieut. Wells was on the stand yesterday.

"Was the dispatch sent?" asked Admiral Dewey; and when he was told that it had not been, the admiral said it was not relevant. "We only want the facts," he said.

Capt. Lemly and Mr. Hanna contended for its admission. Mr. Hanna said that it indicated hesitation at a critical time. Mr. Rayner urged that this dispatch was no more admissible than was the commodore's dispatch giving an account of the battle of July 3 which was not sent, and which had been ruled out.

Admiral Dewey then told Capt. Lemly and Mr. Hanna that they could ask questions bearing upon any supposed conversation with Commodore Schley, but ruled again that the dispatch itself could not be introduced.

Mr. Hanna started to examine the witness, when the latter again referred to the dispatch. Mr. Rayner objected. Mr. Hanna said he had a right to refer to it to refresh his memory.

"The court decided it, as we decide it now, that this cannot go in," said Admiral Dewey. "Now, let us go on to something else. We are losing a lot of time here."

Maj. Murphy corrected his testimony of yesterday so as to say that the vessels of the flying squadron in steaming back and forth at night in front of the mouth of the harbor at Santiago had gone only about 800 yards to either side of the harbor instead of 1500 yards, as stated yesterday.

In response to a question by Mr. Rayner, Maj. Murphy detailed an incident in which Commodore Schley figured at the close of the battle of July 3.

Incident of Schley's Gallantry.

Maj. Murphy said: I remember the incident distinctly because it made a very great impression on me at the time. It was when they were preparing a cutter to take Capt. Cook to the Colon to receive the surrender of that ship. She had hauled down her flag and was ashore. The officers and many of the men were gathered forward in the neighborhood of the forecastle, and Commodore Schley addressed the men, cautioning them not to cheer when the Spanish captain came on board. He spoke of their gallantry, that they had made a good fight, and that they should not be humiliated; that we should treat them chivalrous and not humiliate them by cheers. The commodore made the same speech about midnight of the same day when we were ranging alongside the Iowa and we had learned that Admiral Cervera and his officers were on board the ship. It afterwards developed that Admiral Cervera head Commodore Schley make the remark, and he appreciated it very much, so we were told.

Maj. Murphy was then excused and Commander Harlow called. Capt. Lemly asked him about the coaling of the ships of the flying squadron on May 25 and 26. He said that on the 25th no one would have attempted to coal ship, and that coaling could not have been undertaken in the forenoon of the 27th. The notes taken by himself during the battle of July 3 did not, he said, give the exact time consumed by the Brooklyn in making its turn, but showed that time to be less than 25 minutes. When asked to state how long a time elapsed after the Spanish vessels came out of the harbor before they turned to the westward the witness said that the time was only such as would have been consumed in going a few ship's lengths.

In reply to a question from Capt. Lemly the witness said that he remembered the incident of Commodore Schley's transferring his flag from the Brooklyn to the Massachusetts on May 31 for the purpose of making a reconoissance, the Vixen having been used for that purpose. He had, he said, seen the commodore both going and coming, and had spoken to him on his return.

"What, if anything, was said when returning about the guns that were discovered or developed?"

"A remark was made, I think, by myself, that at any rate we had developed the batteries. Commodore Schley replied that 'That was what we went in for.' A remark was also made by Commodore Schley about a ten-inch gun on a disappearing carriage which we did not believe. We found afterward the disappearing carriage was a trap."

"What was the manner and bearing of Commodore Schley upon this occasion?"

Thought Schley Looked Badly.

"Commodore Schley looked badly, and, as I would have suspected from a man who probably had been up a great deal at night and laboring under a great deal of feeling of responsibility. From the impression at the time he seemed to be seriously affected by the situation as a result of his watching and feeling of responsibility."

"Have your ever said, in regard to this matter and at this time, that he was worried over the situation, 'that there is no doubt but what Schley was worried over the situation, and afraid to take the responsibility.'"

"I said that in my own private notes, my diary, as my opinion at the time."

Mr. Rayner called attention to this answer, and said that the witness' opinion was not evidence.

Admiral Dewey: The question was eminently proper. The answer went a little too far. Answer that question, not from your opinion.

The witness: Of course, I shall have to limit my reply to that by saying he looked badly. The witness added that he did not know from what cause.

After argument by counsel on both sides, in which Capt. Lemly referred to Mr. Rayner as the "wouldbe governor of Maryland," the witness said that he had referred in his testimony in a letter which he had written to the judge-advocate. He was then asked if Commodore Schley was nervous.

Notwithstanding that Mr. Rayner objected, the question was admitted, and the witness answered that he was not nervous.

A similar reply was made to a question as to whether the commodore was excited.

Saw the Brooklyn's Shots Hit the Mark.

Describing the course of the Brooklyn during the battle of July 3, the witness said: "I saw the Brooklyn receiving and returning almost the entire fire of the two leading ships, with an occasional shot from the Colon. I was in a position to see a flash, and shortly afterward the fall of the projectile and these showed that a large proportion was about the Brooklyn. The Colon evidently was using smokeless powder and I was not able to tell so well where her shots fell."

The witness said he was satisfied that the fire from the Brooklyn set the Viscaya on fire and caused her to run ashore. There was no other American ship within range of the Viscaya at that time, he said. The Maria Teresa, the witness said, was driven ashore by the concentrated fire of all the ships of the American fleet. The Oquendo was so far in the rear he could not estimate what vessel caused her destruction. In response to a question by the court, Commander Harlow said that the Vixen was able to maintain the standard speed of nine knots an hour while with the fleet in the voyage from Cienfuegos to Santiago. He also said, in response to a question by the court, that with searchlights the Vixen was near enough to the mouth of the harbor at Santiago to see the enemy's ships in case of an effort at escape.

The court also asked: "Were there any vessels of our fleet between the Brooklyn and the Spanish vessels at any time prior to the turn made by the Brooklyn?"

"No, I should say there was not."

The witness also said that he did not consider that the Texas was near enough to the Brooklyn at the time of the loop to render a collision liable and that he thought the Viscaya made an effort to ram.

Lieut. Harlow was then excused and Capt. C. E. Clark of the Oregon called.

Clark Begins the Battle's Story.

The large audience manifested signs of interest as the captain of the Oregon approached the witness stand. Admiral Dewey smiled as he walked around to the end of the table to administer the oath. Capt. Clark at first spoke in an undertone and was two or three times requested to raise his voice. This he did as he progressed and was soon distinctly heard in the vicinity of the court.

At the request of Mr. Rayner he began a description of the battle of July 3, as follows:

"When we discovered the Spanish ships coming out our fleet closed in at once to attack them, each ship being ordered to keep her head directly toward the harbor entrance. The Spaniards turned to the westward, breaking through our line or crossing it, and our ships swung off to the westward in pursuit. Both sides opened fire promptly and fired rapidly. Dense smoke soon obscured the vessels, making it difficult to distinguish them.

"The Oregon ran between the Iowa and Texas, and the next ships to the westward in our line, and soon after we sighted four Spanish ships ahead, apparently uninjured at the time. They had gained so much ground that I believed they had been successful in attempting to escape, but it was soon evident we were gaining at least on one of them, which afterward proved to be the Maria Teresa, the flagship, and I thought we should bring her to close action, but might be exposed to the concentrated fire of all the ships.

"Just then the smoke lifted or broke away to the left, and I discovered the Brooklyn. She was well forward of our port beam and broadside to the enemy's fleet. Her course was perhaps a little divergent from ours, because the Oregon was attempting to draw up upon the Teresa. But the Brooklyn and Oregon maintained this relative position and quarter, approximately, to the end of the battle, the Brooklyn steaming straight ahead as nearly as I could judge, and engaging any and all of the Spanish ships, the Oregon endeavoring to come to close action with the sternmost one, and when she was driven out of action and pointed to the beach then pushed on for the next one ahead, and so on until the entire fleet was driven ashore, burning or sinking."

Schley Signalled "Follow the Flag."

Mr. Rayner: Did you get any signals from the Brooklyn on the day of the battle?

"Yes, sir."

"Can you recall what they were?"

"Of my own knowledge and remembrance the signals that impressed themselves upon me at the time were 'Follow the flag.' I had this repeated to the vessels following, thinking that they might not see the Brooklyn and might see us. I remember another signal. 'One of my compartments filled with water.' I recollect it because it perplexed me a little. I was fearful that the Brooklyn might have to haul out of action and run in shore, and I concluded that it was given to me as a warning in case she did haul out that I would be prepared to look out for the chase alone and not to pay any attention to her and that she would look out for herself. I also remember a signal because I did not understand it at first, 'The enemy's ship appears to have been built in Italy,' to which I told the signal officer to answer, 'She will end on the coast of Cuba.' I also remember a signal, 'Congratulations over the grand victory and thanks for your splendid assistance.' There were other signals made. I have seen the list of them, but these are the ones I recollect that made any impression on me at the time. Of my own recollection I cannot recall any others."

"What distance was it that you were engaged in the chase of the Colon after the Viscaya ran ashore? How many miles do you suppose the Oregon and the Brooklyn ran in the chase of the Colon before she surrendered?"

"I cannot tell you that. I have heard the chart has limited the distance to a certain number of miles and the speed of the ships has been called in question. I presume 50 or 55 miles."

Brooklyn Fought Four Ships.

"Can you tell me with how many ships the Brooklyn was engaged when the smoke lifted and you saw her on her westward course?"

"She must have been engaged with all four."

"Did you see the turn of the Brooklyn?"

"No, sir. I never saw the Brooklyn until I came out of the smoke."

"How did the Brooklyn's fire appear to you at that time?"

"I remember nothing about that. I remember seeing her. It made a deep impression upon me to find her there, and I felt that we should mutually support and sustain each other. I felt that a battleship was needed, and that we were to be there together."

"Did you see the commodore on the day of the battle of July 3?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will you kindly state where and when you saw him?"

"After the New York came up, after the surrender of the Colon."

"Was any conversation held between you and the commodore on board the New York?"

"A Spanish battleship was reported by Capt. Eaton of the Resolute. She had arrived off Santiago and, I think, he said he had been pursued by her. The admiral did not seem to be impressed by that. He seemed incredulous, but I remarked that it must be Camara's fleet, that they had arrived there to form a conjunction with Cervera's fleet, but they had arrived too late. Admiral Sampson did not assent. Finally, he said, 'Well, Clark, you will have to go after that ship,' and, believing as I did that there was really a Spanish vessel there, I said, 'Admiral, in war we ought to overpower an enemy if possible. Why could not the Broklyn go along?' He turned and said, 'Certainly; Schley, you go also.' I then felt that I had, perhaps, assumed too much in speaking to an admiral and suggesting that a commodore also accompany me. I turned to the commodore and said: 'Commodore, we have knocked out several vessels this morning. We can knock out another, can't we?' He said: 'Certainly, we can. Come on.' He then started over the side, and I started after him for my boat on the other side. What impressed me was his cheery manner of approving of my having mentioned his going, and that he had no feeling against me for mentioning it as a senior, and was rather approving in his manner."

Capt. Clark's examination-in-chief occupied 15 minutes, and at 10 minutes of 1 o'clock Mr. Hanna began the cross-examination.

Capt. Clark was questioned regarding his statement-in-chief that the Brooklyn had at one time during the engagement engaged four different vessels, and confirmed his previous testimony, saying that she was alongside all four of the enemy's ships, and in response to a question from Mr. Hanna as to whether there were not other American vessels engaged at the same time, he replied: "The Oregon was firing as fast as she could with her bow guns." Proceeding with the description, he said that for some time after the Viscaya went ashore, and when only the Colon was left of the enemy's vessels, the Oregon did not fire, and that when she did resume the work only the 13-inch guns were used, with the exception of one or two shots from the 8-inch guns in the forward turret.

"Did you fire the 13-inch gun in pursuance to a signal from the Brooklyn?" Mr. Hanna asked, and the witness replied: "No, the 13-inch guns were fired after a conference with officers on board the Oregon. I had feared damage to the gun mechanism and hesitated to use the guns, but decided to do so. If any signal was made from the Brooklyn I did not see it and it was not reported to me."

Obeyed Schley's Signals.

Capt. Lemly announced that he had no further questions.

Mr. Rayner asked: Were any of the Spanish vessels run ashore or destroyed in the channel as provided in the standing squadron orders to close in and destroy the enemy in the channel?

"No, sir."

"Was the battle of July 3 completed in accordance with any squadron orders previous issued?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know anything about a signal to close up and follow flag, made by Commodore Schley from the Brooklyn?"

"I remember a signal, 'Follow the flag' being maode, because I ordered it repeated. We did close up."

WANTED TO RIDE ON ENGINE

President Roosevelt Told His Engineer He Would Occupy the Cab on His Next Trip.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt and party returned to Washington at 10:30 a. m. today. The special train of two private cars, the Lucania and the Princeton, pulled into the Pennsylvania station just ahead of the federal express, of which it constituted the first section. "I wanted," he said to them, "to get out on the engine this morning, but I didn't know whether I would be permitted to. Now, next time I take a trip I want to ride on the engine."

Accompanied by Miss Roosevelt, Commander Cowles and Secretary Cortelyou the President was driven directly to the white house. He went immediately to his office, where a large accumulation of business awaited him, and denied himself to all callers.

CAPT. CLARK OF THE OREGON AND HIS FAMOUS MESSAGE.

CAPT. CHARLES E. CLARK,
An Important Witness Before the Schley Court.

CAPT. CLARK TO THE BOARD OF STRATEGY: "Don't tangle me up with instructions; the Oregon will hold her own against the whole Spanish fleet."

The above message was sent by Capt. Clark to the Board of Naval Strategy in Washington from a point on the South American coast. It was sent in reply to certain cabled orders from Washington and at a time when the whole nation was waiting for news of the Oregon. The battleship was on her way from San Francisco around Cape Horn to Key West. There was much fear that she would be intercepted by Cervera's fleet, then known to be sailing from Spain to Cuba. The character of the message is a good illustratin of the character of the sailor who sent it. He brought the Oregon through her long journey without straining a rivet, and took a leading part in the final destruction of the Spanish ships at Santiago. His feat of steaming safe and sound, around the dangerous and stormy cape from San Francisco to Florida would of itself give him a special niche in the navy, and has made his name known to the navies of the world.

Like Dewey, Clarke is a Vermonter and his first battle was in Mobile Bay in 1864. He is about 60 years old.

MISS HELEN KELLY, WHO IS TO WED FRANK JAY GOULD.

POLICE PARADED FOR INSPECTION

Department Had Over 600 Men in Line.

LARGE CROWDS VIEWED THEM

CHIEF KIELY WAS GIVEN A SWORD BY THE MEN.

Col. John I. Martin Was the Only Person Not a Member of the Department Who Rode in the Parade.

The first annual parade and inspection of the St. Louis police department was held Thursday morning.

After the procession had passed through the business section of the city, it was reviewed at Twelfth and Chestnut streets by Mayor Wells and the Board of Police Commissioners.

At the conclusion of a series of drills by mounted men, riflemen and patrolmen, carrying batons, Chief Matthew Kiely was presented with a handsome sword, purchased by members of the force.

The procession was viewed by large crowds from start to finish. About the First Regiment Armory, where the formation was made, and on Twelfth street, in the vicinity of the reviewing stand, the streets and sidewalks were thronged.

In the business section, the splendid appearance of the men evoked enthusiasm and, as platoon after platoon of finely-built marchers went by, there was generous applause.

Chief Kiely, at the head, and conspicuous in his group of aids by his insignia of rank and his pure white fatigue cap, was frequently loudly applauded.

About him rode Maj. Ed Lally, as chief of staff, Dr. A. C. Robinson and Col. John I. Martin.

Six hundred patrolmen marched in three divisions.

The mounted police, under Capt. McNamee, followed the chief, and behind Seymour's First Regiment Band were riflemen and patrolmen in the numerical order of the police districts.

The formation was under the direction of T. Rosser Roemer, drillmaster of the department, and his assistant, Sergt. C. H. Rea, of the Central district.

The men reported in squads at the First Regiment armory at 10:30 o'clock and were formed in line on Pine street, the right resting on Eighteenth street and the left on Sixteenth.

Each man wore his best uniform, white gloves and a black helmet, and carried a baton or rifle, according to his division.

The riflemen, 200 in number, divided into two companies, marched directly behind the band.

This division is composed of men of the department irrespective of districts.

It showed the effect of two months of hard drilling by its soldierly swing and precision of movements.

The color squad came next. It was composed of Sergts. Kavenaugh, Strong, Gleason and Powers, under the command of Sergt. James Healey.

Following this were the district men, each contingent being in two platoons and commanded by its captain.

Mayor Wells left the City Hall at 11:30 o'clock and went to the meeting room of the board of police commissioners in the station just ahead of the federal express, of which it constituted the first section. When the President reached the engine that had pulled the train from Philadelphia he reached up his hand to the engineer and fireman and said good by.

"I wanted," he said to them, "to get out on the engine this morning, but I didn't know whether I would be permitted to. Now, next time I take a trip I want to ride on the engine."

Accompanied by Miss Roosevelt, Commander Cowles and Secretary Cortelyou the President was driven directly to the white house. He went immediately to his office, where a large accumulation of business awaited him, and denied himself to all callers.

DR. MOORE'S SON WEDS SECRETLY

Elopes With Kentucky Girl to East St. Louis.

BRIDE WAS MARY SCHIEVE

YOUNG WOMAN A GUEST OF HUSBAND'S FAMILY.

Mr. Moore Courted Her During Recent Visit to Lexington, but Relatives Were Not Aware That an Engagement Existed.

W. G. Moore, Jr., a son of Dr. W. G. Moore of 86 Vandeventer place, eloped Thursday morning to East St. Louis with Miss Mary Schieve of Lexington, Ky. It was the purpose of the couple to keep the wedding a secret for a few months at least.

The elopement was the outcome of a visit of Mr. Moore with relatives at Lexington during the summer. He paid ardent court to Miss Schieve while he was there, and when he left they were engaged without their relatives' knowledge, but on account of the youth of Mr. Moore, who was not yet 21, it was not intended that the wedding should take place for some time.

The Moore and Schieve families were friends and three weeks ago Miss Schieve came to St. Louis as the guest of her fiance's family.

It did not escape the notice of members of the household that the young people were fond of each other, but they were regarded as too young to be thinking of getting married and no suspicions were aroused.

As the time drew near for Miss Schieve to return to Lexington, the couple made up their minds that separation would be unbearable unless they separated as man and wife and the elopement was planned.

The two left the house early Thursday morning on the pretext of taking a car ride. They went to East St. Louis and before 10 o'clock were at the office of Deputy County Clerk Caughlan in the Arcade building. Mr. Moore gave his age as 21 and Miss Schieve said she was 20.

The license was issued to them and they were married shortly after by Magistrate Hender.

At the marriage license office and at the office of the justice the pair was reticent, answering only the questions which were required by law.

The young man told the magistrate that he had no occupation but lived at home with his parents.

The couple returned directly to St. Louis and went back to the Moore residence but did not tell where they had been.

It was their expectation that the bride would return in a day or two to her home at Lexington and remain there until such time as her young husband should deem it prudent to tell his father about his marriage and make arrangements to support his wife.

The two were fashionably attired. Mr. Moore's bride is an extremely pretty girl and belongs to one of the best blue grass families.

NOTHING COOLER IN SIGHT

Dr Hyatt Declares That Indian Summer Is Apparently Here to Stay.

Dr. Hyatt told the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning that the end of the Indian summer weather that has been delighting St. Louisans for several days is not yet in sight.

It will be fair and warm Thursday night and Friday, according to the doctor.

There is no rain in sight for St. Louis. Thursday morning it was clear throughout the country except in Texas, New Mexico and Utah.

The temperature in St. Louis at 7 o'clock Thursday morning was 60. At noon it was 74.

A high barometer is prevalent throughout the West and North, and this argues the continued fair weather for St. Louis.

TWO LOVING HEARTS

GOULD-KELLY

LAUGH AT LAWSUITS

Romance of Young Gould and His Sweetheart.

FAMILIES ALWAYS RIVALS

FOR MANY YEARS THE FEUD HAD BEEN BITTER.

But Frank Jay and Helen Have Known Each Other From Childhood and Their Union Will Heal All Old Wounds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, widow of the late commodore of the New Rochelle Yacht Club, told the correspondent of the Post-Dispatch today that it was true that her daughter, Helen Margaret, is to marry Frank Jay Gould, the youngest son of the financier, Jay Gould.

"This is the first public announcement of the engagement," said Mrs. Kelly, "and I am glad to give the pleasant news.

"The young folks have known each other nearly all of their lives. Two or three years ago they met after a separation of a short time, during which they had been at school, and, well, the usual thing happened. They fell in love and now they are to be married.

They have not been engaged long, but the engagement is not a surprise. Before my husband died in July we had talked of the probable result of the apparent attachment of the young folks and he looked with complacency on the marriage of the daughter to the son of his father's old antagonist.

Love Laughs at Lawsuits.

"The young folks have often laughed over the idea of the Gould and Kelly families being so closely united after such long and bitter lawsuits, but those troubles are all past."

"When will the wedding occur? Well, nothing has been decided. They may wait for the full period of mourning for Mr. Kelly, or they may be married in the spring. That is unsettled. The young folks are too busy now making love to worry about the date of their wedding."

Miss Kelly is a beautiful young woman. She will be 18 years old next January. At present she is a guest of Mrs. Eldwin Gould at Lakelaise. Frank Gould is also stopping there, though he usually comes to town each day for a few hours. Miss Kelly will not return to her home for several days.

The bride-to-be was educated in a convent. She was christened Helen Marguerite but when she became older she preferred the name of Margaret and that is the name by which she is now known.

Millions to Be United.

Young Gould will be 24 years of age Dec. 5 next. When he became of age he inherited a fortune of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 from his father. This fortune has been tremendously increased during the past three years, and he is now worth close to $20,000,000 and enjoys an income of from $12,000 to $20,000 per week.

Miss Kelly is a granddaughter of Eugene Kelly, the well-known baker. From her father, who died without a will, she will inherit close to $1,000,000. She is just past 17 years of age, is extremely pretty, as are her mother and her one sister. The Kelly city home is at 17 East Thirty-second street.

Miss Kelly's grandfather was often opposed to Jay Gould in his financial and railroad operations, and their clashes often resulted in lawsuits.

Many of these suits, involving large sums, have not yet been settled, but have descended to the heirs of the two men.

The uniting of the families through the marriage of young Gould and Miss Kelly will doubtless end the litigation and result in the compromising of the claims and the withdrawal of the suits.

Edward J. Kelly, the father of the fortunate girl who is to become the young millionaire's bride, died suddenly July 27 last. He was at that time the commodore of the New Rochelle Yacht Club and was preparing to entertain Admiral Schley when he suddenly became ill from gastric hemorrhages and died within a few hours.

His summer home was filled with guests at the time of his death, and he was in good health until fatally stricken. He was only 39 years old and was a member of many clubs.

He left three brothers, Eugene, Thomas and Robert. When his widow made application for letters of administration on his estate she said that his fortune would amount to $140,000 in personal property and $100,000 in real estate. These figures were merely tentative and the general impression was that Mr. Kelly was worth at least $2,000,000 and perhaps much more.

Her Mother Had a Romance.

There was a romance in the marriage of Mr. Kelly to the woman who will become the mother-in-law of Frank Gould. He was married in 1882, but the marriage was kept a secret until 1893, and then made public through the announcement of the death of a son. All of Mr. Kelly's friends had supposed he was a bachelor.

When the news of his marriage became public, Mr. Kelly explained that the affair had been kept secret because of religious differences between him and his wife. He was a Catholic and she was a Protestant.

Because of this difference the marriage was opposed by Mr. Kelly's father, but previous to his death he became reconciled to the union and was very fond of his handsome daughter-in-law.

Mr. Kelly refused to divulge the name of his wife, and her identity has never been made public, though she is said to be a member of an old New York family.

Frank Gould has been paying devoted attention to Miss Kelly for several months. She has never been formally introduced into society, but she has been present at many entertainments given at the Kelly summer home near New Rochelle, and is well known to many prominent New York people, especially to those interested in yachting.

Her father owned the steam yacht Barracouta, on which many distinguished guests were entertained.

What Young Gould Does.

Mr. Gould makes his home in New York with his sister, Helen, in the Gould home at No. 579 Fifth avenue. His business office is in the Western Union building, at No. 195 Broadway.

He is a director in the Missouri Pacific railroad and in various other concerns in which the Gould millions are invested. His fortune is a part of the trust fund directed by the Gould heirs, and he has no direct control of his sixth of the estate. The income is entirely under his direction.

Frank Gould has two hobbies—dogs and horses. He owns one of the finest kennels of St. Bernards in the country, having several canines worth from $500 to $1,000 each. He has taken numerous prizes at dog shows in Madison Square Garden, Philadelphia and elsewhere. He owns dogs which have taken all prizes wherever exhibited, either in this country or in Europe.

WHAT IS "RAGTIME?"

MUSICIANS DISCUSS MRS. BLAIR'S STARTLING STATEMENT.

IS ST. LOUIS A "RAGTIME CITY?"

The Principle of Ragtime Is "a Regular Recurrence of an Irregular Accent."

St. Louis musicians and lovers of music are aroused by Mrs. James L. Blair's statement that the World's Fair City is in reality only a "ragtime" city.

Prominent musicians here discussed the proposition for the Post-Dispatch as follows:

BY E. R. KROEGER, COMPOSER.

St. Louis a ragtime city! What of it? Schumann wrote "ragtime," and wrote it magnificently. He was particularly fond of it. So were all the masters of music both lovers and writers of "ragtime."

What is "ragtime?" Merely a systematic use of syncopated rhythm, in this case applied to imitation negro melodies.

I am not opposed to what is called "ragtime," for it is capable of being made excellent use of by first-class composers. The objection is to the vulgar and often indecent verses that go with the music. After the "ragtime" craze dies out good music writers can make good use of the rhythm idea.

It is the "ragtime" rhythm that has captured the public fancy. What are the popular Sousa marches except mediocre melodies in six-eight rhythm—a happy expedient whereby a little unaccented beat before an accented beat caught the popular ear and made Sousa the "March King" and a rich man.

The principle of syncopated rhythm is a regular recurrence of an irregular accent. It is not easy music to play, for it requires a certain faculty to be able to play against your beat. But the "ragtime" songs! They are unbearable. They have reached the rock bottom of indecency.

Mrs. Blair is correct in the main in her views of St. Louis as a non-musical center. It is very slow work, the raising of the musical taste of this city. Our only salvation is in the generation now growing up.

To compare us with Boston and New York in musical matters is unfair. Commerce in those cities is now running in regular channels and people have the leisure to cultivate the arts.

My views of the musical future of St. Louis are not pessimistic. Twenty-five years will put us where New York and Boston are. Chicago is working to that end rapidly.

St. Louis has a very finely cultured musical set, but it is small and out of all proportion to the population. It may be, however, the very leaven that will raise the whole.

BY CHARLES KUNKEL,
Composer of "A Welsh Rarebit."

"Ragtime" is only another name for a melody with syncopated rhythm, a form of musical construction that has been used by the greatest masters of music, Schumann, Beethoven, Wagner, Mendelssohn, worked it into many of their compositions. Some of Gottschalk's most beautiful compositions are almost impossible to play on account of the intricate and marvelously skillful syncopation he employed. It would be as impossible to write certain classes of music without the so-called ragtime as it would be to write a love story without some one in it saying "I love you."

Carping critics complain that the modern "ragtime" composers use bad melodies. There is no such thing as a bad melody, no more than there is a bad English word. An uneducated composer may write melody incorrectly as a writer may invert a sentence. The melody may be what I may call ungrammatic. Music is a despot as is language.

But ragtime in itself is not bad. It has a fascinating rhythm that charms the ear and its melodies are tuneful.

Sousa early caught the public ear with surprises of time and eccentricities of handling ordinary melodies. He went to France and set the people wild by taking their "Marseillaise" and playing it in ragtime. At first they were so astonished they could not grasp its meaning but it clung to their tympanums and set their brains to tingling with a new sensation, and they rewarded their entertainer.

So the "ragtime" writers took the old melodies and syncopated them and the change caught the public fancy. As long as the people continue to enjoy "ragtime" so long will it be furnished them.

Homer Moore: St. Louis is not a music-loving city, and I must indorse every word spoken on the subject by Mrs. Blair. Any musician settling in St. Louis suffers a loss of commercial value and in most cases of artistic ability. This fact is known, and keeps away from the city many good musicians who would otherwise come here.

Charles Galloway: Mrs. Blair is right in saying that St. Louis people lack appreciation of music. A philanthropic leader who appreciates the educational value of music is needed here. Look at Cincinnati, which supports an annual May festival, and where citizens subscribed for a magnificent public organ.

Milton B. Griffith: The Choral Symphony Society should receive support of twice as many music lovers as at present. Mrs. Blair is right in condemning the public standard of musical taste here. In Pittsburg, which is half as large as St. Louis, they have two hmigh class concerts a week Here it is difficult to have two a year.

Louis Conrath: Music, to thrive, must have an endowment or other form of solid financial backing. I hope some rich man of public spirit will take the initiative in this matter. Concerts with admission free to the public will be necessary in order to educate the popular taste to the required standard. Mrs. Blair's remarks are correct.

Miss Mamie Groth, Platteville, Wis., writes:

"Accept a grateful girl's thanks for the wonderful help I have received through the use of Peruna. Although I looked well and strong I have for several years suffered with frequent backache and would for several days have splitting headaches. I did not wish to fill my system with poisonous drugs, and so when several of my friends advised me to take Peruna, I asked my physician what he thought of it. He recommended it and so I took it and am entirely without pain of any kind now."—MAMIE GROTH.

Mrs. Hattie E. Grove, Monticello, O., writes:

"I commenced to take Peruna last February. I had been doctoring for over a year with our home doctor, but without much relief. At last I wrote to Dr. Hartman; told him as near as I could how I felt. It seemed to me I was out of shape all over. He wrote and told me I had systemic catarrh and advised me to try Peruna and Manalin. I took six bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin and it completely cured me.

"I am satisfied that Peruna is a good medicine, and praise it to all my friends who are suffering from the many ailments peculiar to womankind."—Mrs. H. E. Grove.

Mrs. Gridley, mother of Captain Gridley, who was in command of Dewey's flag ship, at the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Manila, says of our remedy, Peruna:

"At the solicitation of a friend I used Peruna, and can truthfully say it is a grand tonic and is a woman's friend, and should be used in every household. After using it for a short period I feel like a new person."—Ann E. Gridley.

A Housewife's Letter.

Mrs. Maggie Franks, 617 Main street, Greenville, Miss., writes:

"I was troubled for a number of years with systemic catarrh. I had almost constant pain in the side, stomach trouble, a bad cough, caught cold very easily, and felt nervous and tired all the time. Peruna has made me a healthy, strong woman. I improved in strength and flesh rapidly after beginning your medicine, and can do more work now and not feel it than I have done for years."—Maggie Franks.

Mrs. I. D. Hayes, 1022 Druid Hill avenue, Baltimore, Md., writes:

"Peruna is one of the best medicines for sore throat, colds, nervous headaches and coughs that has ever been discovered. After the use of one bottle I don't feel safe without Peruna in my house."—Mrs. I. D. Hayes.

Mrs. Ella Miskell, Leota, Scott County, Ind., writes:

"Chronic catarrh in the head, nose and throat and pelvic organs has been a source of trouble and great annoyance to me for more than ten years. Loss of appetite, sleep and flesh, besides continual coughing and pain, showed too plainly that my case was a stubborn one."—Mrs. Ella Miskell.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Evolution of the Telegraph.

The enormous strides in the development of telegraphy in the ninetc nth century is well illustrated by Sir W. H. Preece, K. C. B., in an English magazine. The progress in speed is shown by the statement that whereas in 1870 the number of words that could be sent per minute was only 80, in 1890 the number of words per minute had increased to 450. In contrast to the 9,850,177 messages dispatched in the United Kingdom at a cost of £612,301 in 1870, last year 89,576,961 telegrams were sent, bringing in a revenue of £3,459,333. The total number of government and private cables in the world is now 1624, covering a length in nautical miles of 187,353,172.

Dr. Arkwright's Remedies

Not Patent Medicines, but Physicians' Time-tried Prescriptions

For fifteen years we have labored and searched the country to find a line of physicians' prescriptions which could be placed on the market for every common ailment of man—remedies which would not be known as "patent medicines," but be relied upon as time-tried prescriptions of eminent specialists. We have completed the line and placed it on the market under the name of

Dr. Arkwright's Remedies

INCLUDING

Dr. Arkwright's Boranca—For general indisposition and "not feeling right." it builds up the tired system and "makes you feel fine."

Dr. Arkwright's Spruce Pine—For Coughs and Colds.

Dr. Arkwright's Kamnasalve—For Eczema, Burns, Sores, etc.

Dr. Arkwright's Rheumarga—For Rheumatism.

Dr. Arkwright's Tablets—Three in number—one for Headache, one for Cold, one for Constipation and Biliousness.

Our efforts to produce such a complete line have been hailed with delight by the sufferer who has ever been in doubt about the remedies purchased as "patent medicines." It is also received with welcome by the druggist, who can concentrate to a large extent his stock on one reliable line, keeping unsalable remedies off his shelves or unreliable ones out of the hands of his patrons. The largest druggists in St. Louis, after careful investigation, have taken the line up with enthusiasm. Their letter follows:

DR. ARKWRIGHT REMEDY CO.,
St. Louis.

GENTLEMEN: We are pleased to place your line of time-tried physicians' prescriptions in stock, and offer them with our endorsement to our patrons. You are filling a long-felt want in the "Arkwright Remedies."

WHAT IS MAJOR HARLOW'S JOB?

Postoffice Officials Have Received No Notice of Major's Coming or Indication of President's Pleasure.

Federal building officials and subordinates are indulging in speculation as to exactly what position Maj. John B. Harlow will occupy when he arrives from Washington.

Maj. Harlow is a former postmaster of St. Louis. For 17 years prior to his appointment as postmaster he was superintendent of mails under other postmasters. Since the expiration of his term as postmaster he served about eight years as a member of the civil service commission.

A week ago it was announced simultaneously that Maj. Harlow was in poor health; that he resigned his position as a civil service commissioner; that W. B. Fouke of Indiana had been appointed in his stead by President Roosevelt, and that Maj. Harlow would be given a position in the St. Louis postoffice under Postmaster Baumhoff.

Maj. Harlow has not arrived, and no official notification has reached the St. Louis office as to when he is coming or what he is going to do after he arrives.

Mr. Fouke, his successor, was a member of the civil service commission before. President Roosevelt was also a civil service commissioner at one time. It is said that he served on the commission with Fouke.

It is argued by politicians that President Roosevelt naturally takes an interest in the commission and its work and that the appointment of Fouke to succeed Harlow so soon after Roosevelt's entry into the White House has some significance.

Exactly what this significance may be is something of a puzzle locally. Some persons familiar with national politics see in the situation a probability that Maj. Harlow's failing health caused the President to desire a more active and physically capable man in his place and that he arranged to give him a berth in the St. Louis office in return for dropping him from the commission.

Others express the opinion that the retirement of Maj. Harlow from the board was voluntary and due simply to ill health and that he asked for a place in the St. Louis postoffice because this city is his home.

But the only news in regard to Maj. Harlow's poor health has come in press dispatches in connection with his retirement from the board. In case the major should turn up in St. Louis in good health, it is hinted, that there may be further developments.

MAYOR PLANS BUILDINGS

Chief Executive Considering Means of Putting St. Louis' New Charter to Use.

Plans for giving St. Louis the benefit of the third amendment to its charter, providing for the erection of public buildings, are being considered by Mayor Wells.

The mayor, without having made an official inquiry into the procedure under the new charter provisions, believes that the installment plan, which now applies to the payment of special tax bills for street and sewer work by individuals can be successfully applied to the payment for new public buildings by taxpayers at large.

The mayor's plan, as far as outlined, is to provide a fund for new buildings by a special tax extending over a period of years, thus avoiding the objections which might be raised if it were proposed by a special tax in any one year to raise the entire sum needed.

"The question of what new buildings are needed first is one which the best architects will have to settle," said the mayor Thursday. "No one will deny that buildings are urgently needed, but we cannot build them all at once, and we shall have to learn which of the old buildings are in the best condition and can be used longest.

"As all appropriations for this purpose have to be made by special vote of the people, it will be advisable to have some plan by which the taxation may run over a series of years. This will keep the amount required from being a burdensome tax in any one year."

The third amendment states that the levying of taxes for new public buildings must be authorized by a two-thirds vote of the people at a special election held for the purpose.

It has been suggested that the new Four Courts building, which is considered an inevitable necessity in the next few years, be placed on the present site of the old City Hall, and that the present Four Courts building and grounds be sold. This suggestion has been favorably considered by several city officials, and will be submitted to the mayor.

CONVERSATIONINGS.

Laugh and the world laughs with you;
Laughing will make you fat.
The world (is it not?) is broad as long;
Laughing with people did that.

The American is famed as the best laugher in the world and the American Indian as the poorest; but even old Straight-in-the-Face himself will emit a roar or so next Sunday, when he sees the page the Rogers Brothers, famous comedians, have edited for the Sunday Post-Dispatch. Did you read the Weber and Fields "chokes" two weeks ago and those brilliants in philosophy beginning "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a good milkman?" Now, honor bright, wasn't it funny? Didn't everybody around home laugh at that page and look foolish and gigglish for an hour? Of course, because they're Americans, and ours is the country of fun. But the half has never been told in fun; wait until next Sunday. Rogers Brothers have edited a page. You've heard of Rogers Brothers? Or if not of his brothers, then Rogers himself? Watch for them Sunday. They can't help it.

Mme. Sarah Grand is in America. Because she wrote "The Heavenly Twins," (with whom not many among us are sufficiently talented to carry on a correspondence) her visit to this country is very interesting. Harriet Hubbard Ayer has seen this la grande Sarah and secured from her an interview, which will be a feature of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch. Also, Pendennis of proven power in his art has secured from Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske—a St. Louis woman who, as the French say, has "arrived" in her art and has her own theater in New York City—an interview on her art, her critics and her plans. These will be two of the things making for greatness of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

A good hunting story is that told at the town of Portage des Sioux of one Pierre, an old settler, who, but for the unfortunate happening of his death something more than a hundred years ago, would easily be the oldest settler around St. Louis today. Pierre lived between Lake Marie temp Claire and the river. Every morning the geese flew over his house going from the lake to the river, and every evening they came back. And every morning Pierre sat on his front porch with his rifle and shot the last goose in the flock. One day the old settler sat at his door and called:

"Marie, the geese!"

And the good wife rushed out to hand him his rifle. Pierre raised it to his shoulder, and as he did so his wife screamed:

"Ma Chere, we forgot to load it!"

By that time Pierre had put the brass sight on the gray breast of the last goose. By a sudden brilliancy of mind he roared:

"Boom!"

And the end goose, as was his habit, fell fat and fooled in the Frechman's yard.

The spirit of old Pierre, the hunter, has been inherited by thousands of his countrymen in St. Louis. They hunt ducks at all the lakes and waters around, and next Sunday's Post-Dispatch will print a beautiful color picture of duck hunting and a story telling who are the great duck hunters of St. Louis, where they hunt and what they kill.

A believer in Mark Twain as the greatest living humorist offers as proof the statement that every time Mr. Clemens rattles his grey locks his countrymen dance in glee. With equal truth it may be said that Mr. Dooley's bar is always damp with the tears of a people who laugh 'till they cry. Mr. Dooley will be in his place next Sunday morning not in fact, but in the Sunday Post-Dispatch. Mr. Hennessey will leave his wheelbarrow out at the dump and stroll in to talk it over. And then will ensue a dialogue, combining with humor a philosophy such as the world seldom knew in the long lapse of years until Hennessey was put on over at the rolling mill. None but Dooley can tell it, and none in St. Louis will print it but the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"To Housekeeping School, dear sir," she said;
"Is Housekeeping School, dear maid, a success?"
"'Tis new, dear sir, and we may but guess."

St. Louis ladies will establish in the city this fall a school of housekeeping which will endeavor to bring about a solution of the problem, "What shall we do for house help?" No such serious effort to solve the house help problem was ever before made in St. Louis. It is a matter of keenest interest to every St. Louis woman who employs help in the house, for there is no other branch of work in which the supply of workers is inadequate to the demand.

THEY ELOPE TO ALTON

CHURCH REFUSES TO SANCTION MARRIAGE OF THIS PAIR.

Miss Mullally and Her Father's Friend Encounter Difficulties, but Now Have Parental Consent.

Miss Florence V. Mullally, daughter of Joseph J. Mullally of 5156 Kensington avenue, eloped to Alton Wednesday with her father's friend, Joseph C. Harrison, and was married by Justice of Peace J. P. Thornton.

After the civil marriage the urgent desire of the bride to be married anew by the ceremonies of her church led the couple to SS. Peter and Paul's Church, where Father E. L. Spaulding refused to add the church's sanction to the union without a dispensation from Mrs. Harrison's own parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison then journeyed home to announce the marriage.

They were forgiven, and it is understood that the couple will be married according to the laws of the church Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Harrison is 35 years old, and his wife is 15 years his junior. The groom and Mr. Mullally have been friends for a long while, and when Mrs. Harrison was a school girl her husband expressed his admiration for her. Mr. Mullally laughed at his friend's preference for a mere girl. Miss Mullally graduated at the Loretto Convent at Florissant and made her debut two years ago.

Mr. Harrison paid her marked attention, but the difference in age and in faith seemed a barrier between the two.

Obstacles, however, did not discourage them. They planned, and Wednesday they acted.

Miss Mullally met Mr. Harrison at the Mercantile Library early Wednesday morning. The journey to Alton and the marriage followed.

Mr. Harrison, a member of an old Missouri family, is connected with the National Lead Co., and is prominent in business circles.

MID-WEEK REVIEW OF LOCAL THEATERS

Here are some of the personages and situations in "A Royal Family,"—the romantic comedy which Annie Russell is presenting at the Olympic—as they appear to the Post-Dispatch caricaturist.

Robert Misch's novel farce, "Nachruhm," a light, airy trifle in four pretty acts, was given for the first time in St. Louis at the Germania Theater last night by the Heinemann-Welb stock company to the largest midweek house of the season. It portrays the amusing efforts of certain individuals to secure honorable mention for themselves by extolling the virtues of dead relatives, strutting about in grave clothes, as it were, but the subject is not handled in a grewsome manner, although the young author, during the course of the play develops a fund of humor which might safely lead him through even so risky an effort. "Nachruhm" has, in the last two years, became a repertory number at all the leading theaters of Germany, and it is the endeavor of Messrs. Heinemann and Welb to introduce such standard novelties in St. Louis at the earliest possible moment.

Next Sunday evening the attraction is the best farce of modern times, "Hotel Volabuk." Besides containing side-splitting scenes, it is one long succession of fine musical numbers.

"A Royal Family" at the Olympic is proving a drawing attraction this week and full houses are the rule. It has been some time since Miss Russell has played an engagement in St. Louis and theatergoers are getting acquainted with her for a second time. She is so different from anything seen here for a long time that her audiences have not yet learned how to take her. Her company might be strengthened in one or two particulars, and every member should bear in mind that the Olympic is a large theater and that persons in the rear of the house experience some difficulty in hearing unless the players speak very distinctly.

"Are You a Mason?" is fulfilling the early promise of the week and proving a drawing attraction at the Century. It is a piece constructed solely for laughing purposes, and it fills the bill to perfection. Who could ask anything more?

The advance sale of seats for the engagement of Joseph Jefferson at the Olympic began this morning and was as large as usual. Mr. Jefferson's repertoire for the coming week is: Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings and aSturday matinee, "Rip Van Winkle;" Wednesday and Friday evenings, "The Rivals;" Saturday evening, "The Cricket on the Hearth" and "Lend Me Five Shillings." The engagement promises to be one of the notable ones of the season.

Three sketches are being presented at the Columbia this week: James O. Barrows and John Lancaster and company in Thomas Frost's "Tactics;" Will C. Matthews and Nellie Harris a creation by Cressy called "Adam the Second," and Oscar P. Sisson and Oscar P. Sisson and Ester Wallace in "His Wife's Presents." Other clever people at the continuous house this week are Mlle. Adgie, Johnny Carroll, John C. Leach, Conway and Leland, the Three Barretts, Maud McIntyre, Williams and Williams, and Hamlin and Hamlin and the Beahan Trio.

Coming to the Columbia next week: Tom Nawn and company, Truly Shattuck, John Kernell, the Gray and Stephens company, Jones, Grant and Jones, Morrisey and Rich, Stella Tracey, Raymond Musical Trio, the Asbeys, Miller and May, Edith and Eddie Flowers and the Quinn Trio.

The World's Fair chorus, under the management of H. E. Rice, has made arrangements for its next rehearsal at the Odeon Friday evening, Oct. 25. During the season the chorus will give five concerts with the best soloists obtainable. The first concert will be given about the middle of November.

"The Eleventh Hour," which will be at Havlin's, beginning with the matinee of the coming Sunday, is a play of the purely American type of drama. The main incidents have their primary growth from the attempted robbery of a train. This week at Havlin's Manager Garen has "The Night Before Christmas." It is one of the new dramas of the season, and has given exceptional satisfaction.

A week of good, enjoyable New England comedy drama is promised at the Grand Opera House, beginning with the matinee of the coming Sunday, when Manager Garen will have "The Village Postmaster." The drama is one of the prettiest that has ever been written of the rural life of the people of New England. This week Al H. Wilson is making a second conquest in "The Watch on the Rhine," in which he established himself as a favorite last season.

The Imperial is doing fairly well this week with "The Power of the Truth." The play is an exciting one, and abounds in the most thrilling of situations. The realism of the burning of the old grist mill is a piece of stage work that will be remembered. "The Dangers of Paris" is one of the latest of the English melodramas. It is to be the attraction at the matinee at the Imperial, beginning with the matinee of Sunday.

"Alice of Old Vincennes" is the Century offering for the coming week. The initial performance was given at Cleveland Monday night and the Cleveland critics and the critics of the Chicago newspapers, who ran down, pronounce it a successful piece of work. Virginia Harned (Mrs. E. H. Sothern), is the star. St. Louis theater-goers are more than anxious to see her and her new play. Her engagement will open Monday evening and the Century will be dark Sunday night. The dramatization of Maurice Thompson's book was made by Edward E. Rose.

Harry Bryant's Burlesquers are doing a good business at the Standard this week. American Burlesquers next week.

ROSY COLOR.

Produced By Postum Food Coffee.

"When a person rises from each meal with a ringing in the ears and a general sense of nervousness, it is a common habit to charge it to a deranged stomach.

I found it was caused from drinking coffee, which I never suspected for a long time, but found by leaving off coffee that the disagreeable feelings went away.

I was brought to think of the subject by getting some Postum Food Coffee, and this brought me out of trouble.

It is a most appetizing and invigorating beverage and has been of such great benefit to me that I naturally speak of it from time to time as opportunity offers.

A lady friend complained to me that she had tried Postum, but it did not taste good. In reply to my question she said she guessed she boiled it about ten minutes. I advised her to follow directions and know that she boiled it fifteen or twenty minutes, and she would have something worth talking about. A short time ago I heard one of her children say that they were drinking Postum nowadays, so I judge she succeeded in making it good, which is by no means a difficult task.

Tom O'Brien, the son of a friend who lives on Bridge St., was formerly a pale lad, but since he has been drinking Postum, has a fine color. There is plenty of evidence that Postum actually does 'make red blood,' as the famous trade mark says." Jno. Chambers, 9 Franklin St., Dayton, Ohio.

GIRL LOCATED KIDNAPED CHILD

Little Annie Clark Found in an Indiana Hut.

DISCOVERED BY A PLAYMATE

THE LATTER HAD BEEN ON A VISIT TO CHILD'S HOME.

At Tobinsport, Where She Lived, She Wandered to a Lonely Cabin and There Found the Stolen Baby.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HODGENVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—Annie Clark, the 5-year-old stepdaughter of S. B. Clark, the richest man in Green County, who was recently kidnaped from here, has been found near Tobinsport, Ind. A 10-year-old child is the heroine detective, for it was she who led the officers to the child.

The little Clark girl was carried off in broad daylight on Oct. 14 by a horseman who galloped into town, snatched her from among a dozen other children with whom she was on her way to school, placed her on the saddle in front of him and galloped out again.

The kidnaper sent an unsigned letter to Clark declaring that he would hold her for a ransom of $5000. The authorities of several counties and of all the cities in this state had been searching for the child and her abductors, but could not find them.

Ethel Peyo Peyton, a 10-year-old girl from Tobinsport, was visiting relatives in Hodgenville when Annie was stolen. The abduction made a deep impression upon her. Immediately after the abduction the frightened parents of Ethel asked that she be sent home. Upon her arrival at Tobinsville Ethel talked of nothing but the lost girl. Yesterday she rushed into the house to her father in great excitement.

"Papa, papa, I've seen Annie!" she cried. "I have seen her, papa; honest I have, and I want you to come and see her."

The child insisted so strenuously that Mr. Peyton accompanied her. She led him out from town to a grove where Ethel's playmates were gathering walnuts. She took him to a little cabin in the grove, where she pointed out a little girl playing by herself.

"Annie! Annie!" cried Ethel.

The lone child looked up, ran to Ethel and told her that she was Annie Clark. She was asked about her abduction, but her infantile mind could not understand what had happened to her, and she could give no information. When she was taken to town she cried for "Unky George," and this is said to give an important clew to the man who carried her away.

The abductor and the girl had come to Tobinsport from Louisville, Ky., and had been living in a lonely hut three miles from town. The abductor had not returned to the shack when the last message from Tobinsport was received. Tobinsport is opposite Cloverport, Ky., on the Ohio river.

WAS GARFIELD'S PHYSICIAN

Dr. Churchill Sentenced for Vagrancy at Pasadena Attended the Dying President.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 24.—Dr. R. H. Churchill of Pasadena was today sentenced to serve 15 days for vagrancy.

Mr. Churchill is a native of Cleveland, O., and for years was the family physician of President Garfield. When the President was shot by Guiteau Dr. Churchill hurried to Washington and was one of the doctors at his bedside there.

Dr. Churchill was seen this afternoon in the jail, and seemed to feel his position keenly. He is a fine-looking old man, with aristocratic features and a long gray beard, which he lovingly caressed while speaking. He said he would be 60 years old next Christmas.

The doctor acknowledged that a "little too much brandy" was responsible for his present situation. He added that he had lived in Pasadena for 13 years, but had not practiced regularly, as he had a small income from the East, as well as a pension.

"I was graduated from the Cincinnati Medical College," said the doctor, "and then entered the Twenty-eighth Ohio Volunteers as a surgeon and served three years and eight months in the army. I was born and raised in Cleveland and after I left the army I practiced medicine there and it was there I attended Mr. Garfield and his family."

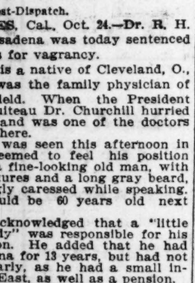

He stated that he had no relatives in California, but that he was going to try and straighten up when his term expired, a week from next Monday.

NEW 202 MILE RAILROAD.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24.—Work has begun on the Oklahoma City & Western Railway, which is to extend from this city to Acme, Tex., 202 miles. Within 30 days, 2000 men will be employed. The road is to be in operation by April, 1902.

Recently there have been several cases of prominent men suddenly falling in collapse just after eating a hearty meal. These men have all been under treatment for gastric "trouble," and yet the result shows that the treatment they had received had smothered the symptoms but had not retarded the progress of the disease.

There is a real danger in the use of palliatives when there is disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. The disease in such cases goes on, while the distressing symptoms alone are stopped. Presently, like a smothered fire, the disease breaks out in new places, involving heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, or some other organ.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery results in a radical cure of diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc., when the disease of these organs has its origin in the diseased condition of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system.

"I will tell you what myself and family think of your medicine," writes Mr. M. M. Wardwell, of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kansas. "It will do all you say, and more. I was taken sick nine years ago; I got so weak I couldn't lie down, nor hardly sit up; was that way two or three months. I picked up one of Dr. Pierce's Memorandum Books one day and saw your description of catarrh of the stomach. I thought it hit my case. We had a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house that was got for my mother. You recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, so I went to taking it. The one bottle nearly cured me. I got two bottles next time and took one and one-half and was well. Your medicine cost me three dollars and the doctor cost me fourteen dollars."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mme. Yale's
HAIR TONIC

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to Mme. Yale's Excelsor Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy known to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to its original color without dye. It has gone on record that Mme. Yale—wonderful woman chemist—has made the most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally indorses its action, and gives the public her solemn guaranty that it has been tested in every conceivable way and has proved itself to be the ONLY Hair Specific. It STOPS HAIR FALLING immediately and creates a luxuriant growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful, fluffy and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and ladies with hair a little gray, streaked gray, entirely gray and with bald heads, it is especially recommended.

SET TO TALKING BY MRS. ROOSEVELT

Washington Women Applaud Her Dress Reform.

CABINET LADIES APPROVE

COMMEND HER SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY.

Many Say That $300 a Year Judiciously Expended Will Supply Any Woman With a Good and Fashionable Wardrobe.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Washington society women are much interested in Mrs. Roosevelt's statement that $300 a year, if wisely expended, is sufficient to maintain a fashionable wardrobe. They warmly applaud the good sense shown by the first lady of the land in setting an example of simplicity and economy.

Friends of Mrs. Roosevelt say the plan she has pursued in the past in regard to evening gowns is worth recording. She has always said that every gown she had was so selected that it would wear with slight repairing for three seasons. In her case evening gowns, always considered the most perishable part of a woman's garb, possessed a five years' lease of life.

These gowns were of the richest and heaviest silk, satin and grenadine and were simply designed. For three years they were remodeled and adorned with the latest trimmings, or some of the priceless lace which Mrs. Roosevelt has inherited from her maternal grandmother, who was an English woman and a connoisseur of lace.

When they would no longer permit of remodeling this thrifty housewife had them made into waists or dressing sacques. An assortment of silk waists is a large item these days, but with Mrs. Roosevelt's plan it is possible for the woman of small means to possess a large number of these pretty adjuncts to a complete toilet.

Partial to Black and White.

Another feature of Mrs. Roosevelt's wardrobe was that she wore black and white almost exclusively for evening and street wear, and only in house gowns or demi-toilets did she select bright colors. No materials have a longer life than black and white. They clean without fading and, according to Mrs. Roosevelt, are the most elegant in appearance.

Gowns of the same color can be combined, and the mistress of the White House has often worn a gown which made a handsome appearance, but which was made of three other gowns.

The ladies who compose the cabinet set are noted for their simplicity in dress, and Mrs. Roosevelt's announcement is in keeping with their tastes. The late Mrs. Gage was always well gowned, but she purchased only two evening dresses for the official season and would have the gowns of the preceding season remodeled each winter. Mrs. Hay, wife of the secretary of state, although a woman of large fortune, dresses simply.

Mrs. Root, whose husband has a large income, is one of the best-gowned women in the official set, but she has not a great variety of changes. Her toilets are rich and becoming, but, like the other cabinet ladies, she does not fear being seen several times in the same gown. Miss Wilson selects her gowns carefully, and is rather partial to French creations. Both ladies believe that $300 is ample to purchase an up-to-date outfit for a year.

Among the social leaders who indorse Mrs. Roosevelt's statement is Mrs. William R. Merriam, wife of the director of the census. Mrs. Merriam said today:

Dress Reform Much Needed.

"Dress reform is much needed in fashionable society, and to have the movement inaugurated by the mistress of the White House augurs well for its success. Many women pay $500 for a single evening gown and $200 for a walking costume. It is encouraging for those who cannot afford such prices to know that a woman who has filled such a high position as that of the President's wife considered herself well gowned on the modest sum of $300 a year."

Mrs. Philip Hichborn, wife of the retired chief constructor of the navy, and the mother of the beautiful young Mrs. James G. Blaine, said:

"Good judgment in purchasing wearing apparel is as necessary as the means to obtain it. My daughter was considered well gowned, and many of my friends believed that her wardrobe was extravagant. She never spent even as much as $300 a year, but what I bought was of the best. In selecting evening gowns silk, satin or soft wool a durable material is preferable to gauzy fabrics. They keep their freshness and will last several seasons if freshened with new ribbon and lace.

"The same is true of street gowns. Some cloth fades and soils, others will look presentable while a piece remains. In regard to hats, shoes and gloves, the wise woman will get the finest quality which comes from the manufacturers. They give that undefinable air which belongs to the true lady. The good quality will look better and will certainly outlast three of an inferior kind."

The most elaborately gowned woman in Washington society is Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, wife of the Denver millionaire. She possesses one gown which cost $7000. Mrs. Leiter has some magnificent toilets, as have Mrs. George Westinghouse, Mrs. Charles Munn of Chicago and Mrs. Richard Townsend. The wives of the diplomats are not especially noted for richness in dressing.

LEFT FORTUNE TO HIS FIANCEE

Miss Ella Strong of Waukegan, Ill., Inherits $100,000 From W. H. Bishop, Found Dead.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 24.—William A. Bishop, the young lawyer whose body was found in a field near Rochester, N. Y., under circumstances indicating suicide, bequeathed his estate, estimated at $100,000, to Miss Ella Strong, his affianced wife.

The instrument has been filed for probate. Miss Strong tried in vain to induce Bishop to quit stimulants.

GAVE MR. BUSCH PRIVATE CAR

The St. Louisan Presented by His Business Associates With a $50,000 Wheeled Palace.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Tuesday Adolphus Busch, head of the big St. Louis brewery, arrived home from Europe, where he had been in the interest of the St. Louis World's Fair. Wednesday, on a pretext, he was enticed to the Grand Central Station and there, much to his surprise, he was presented with a magnificently-fitted private railway car. In this he will return to St. Louis.

The car is the gift of the stockholders of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, and there were present at the presentation Mrs. Adolphus Busch, Mrs. Anna Busch of Mainz, Germany; Mr. Peter Schuttier of Chicago, Mrs. Hugo Reisinger of New York, August Busch, vice-president of the brewing company, of St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Faust, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. Busch.

The car is claimed to be the finest ever turned out by the Pullman shops. Its cost complete was $50,000.

Frederick D. Sergeant Dead.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 24.—Frederick D. Sargent, proprietor of restaurants in St. Paul, Milwaukee and Omaha, and interested largely in gold mining in Northern Minnesota, dropped dead in the Grand Opera House last evening of heart disease.

A STRAY ITEM OF NEWS.

Picked Up by Our Representative on South Fourth Street.

The first time the reader turns from the crowded business center of St. Louis along South Fourth street he will notice a sign in the shape of a book bearing this inscription: "Adolph Grueger, Bookbinder, Weisbush Prtg. House." The owner of the sign and the business indorses Doan's Kidney Pills and emphatically indorses them as follows: "For two years I had pain in the left side of my back. When at work I was constantly compelled to save myself when stooping and if I walked briskly for a short distance the annoyance was so great that I was compelled to slacken my pace. I used medicines for the kidneys time after time during the two years mentioned, but, until I went to the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.'s for Doan's Kidney Pills I received little if any permanent help. After a few doses I knew they were taking effect on the kidneys. When I had completed the treatment the pain in my back and the symptoms of kidney complaint absolutely disappeared."

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

PROTEST AGAINST WAR

FIRST STEP OF THE PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS.

MESSAGE TO TWO STATES

Colombia and Venezuela Requested to Adjust Their Troubles Without Fighting.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 24.—The first step of the Pan-American Congress was to send a message to Colombia and Venezuela asking those countries to adjust their troubles without war.

This action was forced by delegates from North America. Two of the most important questions which will come before the congress are those of arbitration and the Monroe Doctrine. The former is a very delicate one, involving as it does three South American republics—Chili, Peru and Bolivia—and may cause the disruption of the congress, as Chili's attitude in this matter is causing considerable anxiety.

There is a dispute over the ultimate recovery by Peru of the two provinces wrested from her by Chili. Both countries assert that the war was forced upon them. However just this may be, the fact remains that the "Alsace and Lorraine" of South America yield a heavy annual income to Chili, and Peru is naturally anxious to call this plum her own again.

This question will certainly come up before the Congress for settlement. Chili declines to take any part in the congress if this question of arbitration is in any sense of the word "retroactive."

Chili is prepared for war, Peru is not. Therefore the question of arbitration is violently opposed by the former, except under the conditions above quoted, and warmly advocated, with no restrictions, by the latter.

It is thought by those who are watching the matter carefully that Chili is destined to become the center of stormy scenes in the Pan-American Congress. It is inferred that President Roosevelt is of the opinion that the United States should defend the principle of compulsory arbitration.

It is assumed that the United States will avoid displeasing Chili, Mexico and Brazil, and, if disposed to make concessions, will make them to these three states. It is said to be probable, however, in view of the conflicting interests represented in the congress, that it may not come to a general agreement, and that it may end in divisions more profound than those existing.

PROOF OF PROSPERITY.

Anthracite Coal Output Has Increased 10,000,000 Tons Over 1900.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Approximately the output of anthracite coal this year will be 10,000,000 tons more than in 1900. For nine months of this year the shipment of coal has amounted to 40,309,786 tons, as against 34,202,710 tons for the same period last year, an increase of 6,107,076 tons. These figures only relate to the actual shipment of coal, and do not include that used at the mines and by the coal companies.

The production this month will show a big increase over October, 1900, and it is thought the total production for the year will be brought up in round figures to 55,000,000 tons. This production has been fully taken, and the anthracite coal companies have little or no stock of coal on hand.

The demand for anthracite coal has been greater this year than ever before, and the reason given for the great quantities used is the general prosperity of the country. The trade is in a far better condition than ever before and prices are being maintained.

GRAVEST FEAR FOR MISS STONE

Washington Can Get No Trace of Kidnaped Missionary.

MISSIONARIES ALSO AT SEA

THAT THERE ARE POLITICS IN CASE IS GENERAL BELIEF.

Turkey Has Been Holding Bulgaria as a Dependency and May Aim to Show the Laws Are Not Enforced There.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The gravest fear for Miss Stone is felt at the state department.

Every agency employed to get trace of her has failed. The reports from Consul-General Dickinson are discouraging. He knows nothing definite and the missionaries scouring the country where the brigands are supposed to be hiding cannot learn anything about her.

Being without advices, the department cannot offer any opinion on the report that Miss Stone's companion is dead. Mme. Tsilka's brother, also reported dead, has not been known in the case.

The report that Consul-General Dickinson has made indignant representations to the Turkish government on account of the death of the Tsilkas is discredited, because the consul-general has no diplomatic standing in Turkey, being merely a consular officer at Constantinople. He can only exercise diplomatic functions in Bulgaria, to which principality he is accredited as a minister, but diplomatic action in Turkey will have to be taken by Minister Leishman, or, in his absence, by Spencer Eddy, first secretary of legation and charge d'affaires.

That there may be a political aspect of the case is acknowledged at the state department here. Bulgaria pays annual tribute to the Sultan, who has contended ever since the ratification in 1878 of the treaty creating Bulgaria as a principality that her autonomy is not complete. By making it appear that the Bulgarian authorities cannot preserve order, Turkey strengthens her claim that she has a right to have police supervision over the principality.

FENDER BILL AGAIN ALTERED

The City Council sticks to its former views on fender legislation.

Wednesday evening it amended the Howard fender bill, which it had received from the House, making it the former Council bill word for word.

The principal change which the framers of the House fender bill had made was intended to curtail the powers of the board of public improvements.

The alterations in this direction were carefully struck out by the councilmen.

The House has once killed the Council bill, and is now placed in a position where it must either repudiate this former act or further delay fender legislation.

The appointment of Charles W. Bates as associate city counselor, to succeed Charles Claflin Allen, resigned, was sent by the mayor to the Council for approval.

During Mr. Bates' career at the bar, he has established a reputation for strict honor which has resulted in a large practice, of which references from other attorneys are an important part.

CLUB WOMEN MEET

MISSOURI FEDERATION IN SESSION AT ST. JOSEPH.

THE ONLY MAN WAS HUMOROUS

Mrs. President Harrison Appealed Against Dismemberment—Mrs. P. N. Moore for President.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 24.—When Mrs. Edwin Harrison of St. Louis called to order the Federation of Women's Clubs of Missouri, of which she is president, she found every seat in the Congregational Church occupied.

After the invocation by Mr. C. B. Edgar, that gentleman in a humorous address, followed the welcome of Mrs. Constance Runice. He said:

"Madame president and ladies of the convention—I deserve your sympathy; every other man has fled. Not even a clergyman or a male reporter is on hand to welcome you. I was asked to say a word of welcome in the place of Mr. Brewster, and then was surprised by also being asked to deliver the invocation. The ladies selected Senator Brewster because he is the handsomest man in Missouri. He is an Apollo and an Adonis, and an orator, who can make the cold chills run down your back.

"It has occurred to me that there is danger of the men of the day losing sight of the higher ideals of literature, art and science. Men are so immersed in business that they do not read books. Their only literature is the daily newspaper in one hand and a fork in the other. O congratulate the men that the women have found time to study literature, science and art. The women are to be congratulated that they have found time for such things. Our mothers did not have time. The women of today have leisure, and it is a glorious thing that they spend it not in gossip, but in higher things. Whatever the character of the women, that will be the character of the children. I welcome you on behalf of the whole citizenship of St. Joseph."

To this welcome Mrs. Elizabeth Rothwell of Moberly responded. The president then delivered her annual address in which she commended the great progress made by the state's organizations of women. She protested against any thought, in the face of the approaching World's Fair, of the dismemberment of the federation.

One of the features of the afternoon session was the paper of Miss Mary McCulloch of St. Louis, superintendent of public kindergartens, on "The Developmental Value of the Kindergarten."

The delegates from St. Louis held a meeting for the purpose of nominating a ticket. Mrs. George H. Shields presided, and Mrs. Philip N. Moore was unanimously nominated for president of the federation. The Kansas City delegation also nominated Mrs. Moore. Mrs. John C. Gage of Kansas City received the nomination of the St. Louis delegation for first vice-president. Mrs. J. A. Ellison, Kirksville, second vice-president; Mrs. Fayette Ewing, Webster Groves, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Shepherd of Springfield, for recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Darby, St. Joseph, treasurer. For directors—Mrs. Edwin Harrison, Wednesday Club, St. Louis; Mrs. George J. Frankel, Tuesday Club, St. Louis; Mrs. Munger, Hannibal.

The election will take place on Friday, and it is conceded that Mrs. Philip N. Moore will be the choice of the state.

Following are the delegates reported from St. Louis and vicinity:

St. Louis—Mrs. P. S. Begg, Mrs. W. E. Fischel, Mrs. Charles F. Harris, Mrs. W. W. Boyd, Miss Mary Schultz, Miss Richards, Mrs. George G. Baker, Jr., Mrs. John A. Allen, Miss Mabel Ross, Miss Jane Winn, Mrs. George J. Frankel, Mrs. Geo. H. Shield, Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Mrs. Charlotte Rumbold, Mrs. Philip N. Moore.

Webster Groves—Miss Myra W. Skinner, Mrs. C. M. Skinner, Mrs. Fayette Ewing, Miss Mary J. M. Lane.

Tuxedo—Mrs. G. M. Gill.

FIRE DOES $10,000 DAMAGE

Plant of the Thalman Printing Ink Co. Is Wrecked by Flames.

The plant of the Thalman Printing Ink Co., Twenty-first and Gratiot streets, was wrecked by fire at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning. The three-story building and the stock it contained were consumed and for a while the houses surrounding the factory were threatened by the flames.

As the fire made progress neighbors hastened to remove the furniture from their homes. In the attempts to rescue property there were many narrow escapes from death.

The cause of the fire is not known. The flames started on the third floor of the factory. They leaped to the roof of the building almost as soon as the first alarm had been sounded. The place was filled with oils and acids, which fed the flames.

The loss as estimated Thursday morning, will exceed $10,000.

After the ink establishment's roof fell the main efforts of the firemen were directed toward saving the tenement houses, which was accomplished after a stubborn fight.

Household goods removed to the sidewalk were damaged by water.

NOT THE POSTOFFICE ROBBERS.

Tramps With Stamps Arrested at Corning, N. Y., Released Again.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The police department was notified last night of the arrest at Corning, N. Y., of two tramps who came in on a freight train. They were suspected of complicity in the robbery of the Chicago Postoffice because they had a quantity of unused postage stamps in their possession.

Later advices say that the men have been released, the number of stamps in their possession being small.

The police are working on two clews which they think will result in the arrest of the thieves or, at least, in disclosing their identity.

Inspector Stuart has a plan for marking stamps which, he says, would make it impossible for thieves to dispose of them. He would have all the postoffices in the country numbered and the numbers printed on the reverse sides of the stamps. When the stamps are pasted on the mail matter the numbers would be hidden, but an attempt to dispose of large quantities of them would at once disclose the postoffice from which they came and lead to the apprehension of the thieves.

SURVIVES STAB IN THE HEART.

Daniel Ely Is Recovering From Wound Which Is Almost Invariably Fatal.

Daniel Ely, 25 years old, is recovering at the City Hospital from a knife wound in the heart.

Only 20 successful cases of the kind have been recorded in the whole range of medical history.

Ely was stabbed in a fight at Chester, Ill., a week ago. The knife blade entered his body between the fourth and fifth ribs, inflicting a wound in the heart, nearly an inch long.

Superintendent Nietert ordered an immediate operation and two stitches were sewed in the heart.

"I consider Ely's case nothing short of marvelous," said Dr. Nietert to the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning.

"Examination today shows that his pulse, temperature and respiration are normal.

"This means that, unless some unforseen change occurs, he will get well.

"We have had quite a number of stab wound cases here, but almost invariably those in which the heart is affected are fatal.

"Ely is aided by a strong constitution. He has a fair appetite and there is scarcely an indication now that he is an injured man."

MINISTER WAS REPRIMANDED.

Rev. Dr. Hausam of Sedalia Objected to English Language.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 24.—The trial of the Rev. John Hausam, charged with disloyalty to the German M. E. Church of Sedalia in that he had agitated against it because the English language had been substituted for the German at the Sunday night services, was concluded at 10 o'clock last night. The committee of five who heard the evidence brought in a verdict of guilty and the Rev. Hausman's punishment was fixed at a public reprimand, which was administered by presiding elder C. Ott of Kansas City.

BECAUSE HE COULD NOT WED.

Young Edward Shipp of Jacksonville Took His Own Life.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MACON, Mo., Oct. 24.—Because his parents would not give their consent and furnish him the money to marry the girl he loved, Edward Shipp of Jacksonville took his own life. He shot himself in his father's barn at 4 a. m. and was found there by Mr. Shipp.

Young Shipp was the only son of Robert Shipp, and was engaged to Miss Mary Allen of Jacksonville. The young man was heir to $40,000 and a large farm near Cairo, Mo. His parents' objections were based on his youth only.

CARD WEDDED MISS VOGLER.

They Went to Belleville for Friend to Perform the Ceremony.

George G. Card and Miss Erna N. Vogler, both of St. Louis, were married on Wednesday afternoon in Belleville.

Mr. Card is head clerk in a general passenger and freight office in St. Louis.

The only explanation they gave for going to Belleville to get married was that the groom was a friend of Rev. J. A. Gallaher of the Presbyterian church.

They went to the Presbyterian parsonage as soon as they had obtained a license at the courthouse, and Rev. Gallaher married them. They returned to St. Louis late in the afternoon, and will go to housekeeping soon on Eads avenue.

They admitted that their marriage would surprise their friends.

DEFENDS THE MAN SHE WILL MARRY

Wealthy Girl Stanch Friend to Charles Seaton.

HE IS ACCUSED OF SWINDLING

IT IS CLAIMED THAT HE ALSO HAS A WIFE LIVING.

In Spite of This Miss Crum Says She Will See Him Through His Trouble and Will Then Become His Wife.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Miss Estelle Crum, daughter of a society leader of Columbus, O., is championing a married man under arrest here for defrauding women.

"I am going to see him through his trouble, I don't care what people say or what they think. If they knew that I was going to marry him and did not defend him they would condemn me, too. As it means condemnation anyhow, I am going to please myself and do what my heart dictates."

This statement was made by Miss Crum in referring to her devotion to Charles Seaton. He is held on complaint that he attempted to swindle young women out of amounts ranging from $200 to $400 on the promise that he could obtain for them positions as private secretaries.

Seaton has been arrested twice before, once for robbery and again for swindling, and in each instance powerful influence has got him out of his troubles. Neither he nor Miss Crum denies knowledge that he has a wife living, and that it was this woman who got him out of the clutches of the law when he was arrested for receiving contributions to a bogus Indian famine fund a year ago.

Seaton's champion is a beautiful young woman. She has large dark brown eyes, a complexion of pink and white, and her shapely head is surmounted by a wavy mass of reddish golden hair. She carries herself with the easy grace of a woman of good breeding.

"I know all about him," she said, "and I have forgiven him all his shortcomings. He comes from a good family in Cleveland. Whatever he did wrong has been satisfactorily explained to me, and that's an end of it so far as I am concerned. I have no doubt that we will be married as soon as this thing is settled."

"Do you know whether he has a wife living?" was asked.

"I won't say whether I do or not," was her reply. "I won't confirm or deny anything except what I have told you."

Among Seaton's effects, aside from letters from supposed dupes, there was evidence that women had been his champions on other occasions. They are from Philadelphia, Niagara Falls and Boston, some upbraiding him for callousness and abuse and others couched in endearing terms.

MISS CRUM IS AN ACTRESS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24.—Estelle Crum is the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Crum of Columbus, whose husband, a large dealer in chinaware, died about two years ago. She is an actress. Mrs. Crum said:

"I knew that my daughter was going to marry Mr. Seaton, but no time had been set for the wedding. He is a Cleveland man. I have seen him frequently and formed a very good opinion of him."

OCEAN FREIGHTS FALL OFF.

Shortage of Corn Has Put Many Vessels Out of Commission.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Numerous floating grain elevators looming above the stores of the Atlantic Basin, back of Governor's Island, and 124 berthed steamers, many of them tossing idly, attest an unprecedented dullness in ocean freights. It is due to the shortage of the corn crop out west. Corn exports are 20,000,000 bushels behind the same date of 1900.

"Corn makes ocean freights, not wheat," explains Broker Lunham of Lunham & Moore, freight brokers and forwarding agents.

Experts estimate 100,000 tons of ocean cargo space tied up in New York, about the same amount in Philadelphia, and smaller amounts in Boston, Baltimore, Norfolk and New Orleans.

Coal that was formerly carried to Europe for $3.75 and $4 a ton, is now carried for $2. General cargo from the gulf to Denmark that brought $4.50 and $5 a ton, is now being taken for $3.12. Ocean freights have fallen 20 per cent at least. Kenneth, Walsh & Co. of this city have chartered out 170 steamers for their clients, many of which are doing nothing at all. Even the big trans-atlantic liners have a difficulty in securing cargoes.

PLAIN TALK

To Catarrh Sufferers.

Every person suffering from catarrh in its many forms knows that the common lotions, salves and douches, do not cure. It is needless to argue this point or to cite cases of failure, because every victim of catarrhal trouble knows it for himself if he has tried them.

A local application, if it does anything at all, simply gives temporary relief; a wash, lotion, salve or powder cannot reach the seat of the disease, which is the blood.

The mucous membrane seeks to relieve the blood of catarrhal poison by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils descending to the throat and larynx, causing an irritating cough, continual clearing of the throat, deafness, indigestion and many other disagreeable and persistent symptoms.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal treatment; a remedy which will gradually cleanse the system from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion always present in the mucous membrane.

The best remedies for this purpose are Eucalyptol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, but the difficulty has always been to get these valuable curatives combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

Recently this has been accomplished and the preparation put on the market under the name of Stuart's Catarrh tablets; they are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, so that they may be slowly dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane and finally the stomach and intestines.

An advantage to be considered also is that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, morphine or poisonous narcotics, so often found in catarrh powders, and the use of which often entails a habit more dangerous than the disease.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cts. for full sized package and are probably the safest and most effectual catarrh cure on the market.

SCENES OF DEATH AT MORRIS PARK

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Women grew hysterical and men were terror stricken at the Morris Park race track because of a remarkable series of accidents. These occured in the first and fifth races. One jockey was killed and three severely bruised; two horses were killed outright, the leg of one was broken and he was shot and another horse was so badly injured as to be practically worthless.

The first race was a steeplechase over the two-mile course. King T. landed short in taking the jump and slipped down the bank, turning a somersault and landing on his neck. His neck was broken. His rider, Barry, was thrown into the air and slid ten feet after landing on his side. His injuries were not severe.

His fall was senough to shake the nerves of women in the grandstand, but the fifth race saw the climax of excitement.

It was a mile. The field of runners was made up of eight horses that had never won a race on the flat. They were as poor a lot as could be gathered together on a race track.

Timothy Foley suddenly stumbled. He was in the middle of the field of race-mad horses, and Jockey Olsen was pitched over his head under the horses' hoofs. Olsen landed on his head, but the momentum carried him along and he made two somersaults before he lay still. Then the horses swept by. When the track ambulance arrived Olsen was unconscious. He died a few hours later.

Before his unconscious body could be taken from the track the horses had swept nearly around to the home stretch. Suddenly Johnny of Navarre struck his front plate with his hind hoof and pitched heavily forward. He landed on his head and his neck was broken.

The screams of women in the grandstand were renewed. They had hardly left the lips of the spectators when Counciliman Tom came along and stumbled over the prostrate form of Johnny of Navarre. He made a complete revolution in the air and landed on his side. Women then became hysterical and men shouted in terror. Fortunately the riders of Johnny of Navarre and Counciliman Tom were thrown clear of the struggling horses and were only bruised.

GREAT WORK FOR TEMPERANCE.

W. C. T. U. Meeting at Louisiana Marked by Large Attendance.

LOUISIANA, Mo., Oct. 24.—At the opening session of the Missouri Women's Christian Temperance Union the president, Mrs. Clara Hoffman, delivered her annual address, in which she told of the great work and progress of the union.

The convention sermon was delivered by Mrs. R. B. Hall of Carthage and was a most able and excellent discourse. Her subject was "Character Building."

The reports of the treasurer, Mrs. Glazier, of Savannah, and the corresponding secretary, Miss Ellen Morris, were also read and accepted.

Miss Mahan delivered an address on physical culture.

The evening session was devoted to department work. Mrs. Belle Kimball of Kirkwood being ably assisted by Mrs. H. W. Pitzer and Mrs. L. L. Rosser of this city in giving practical demonstrations of the best methods of conducting the work.

There were special musical programs at each session, and the meetings are being largely attended.

NEGRO STEALS HER PURSE.

Miss Minnie Kelly Victim of Bold Robbery on Washingtont Avenue.

A bold robbery occurred Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock in front of the Provident Association building at Washington avenue and Robbins Lane, in the presence of several persons.

Miss Minnie Kelly was walking west on Washington avenue. When at Robbins Lane a negro stepped toward her and endeavored to snatch her pocketbook.

He pried her hand open and took the purse. The young woman screamed and several pedestrians rushed to her assistance. The thief ran north on Robbins Lane, pursued by Miss Kelly.

The street was crowded with persons returning from work. Not five feet away two women turned at Miss Kelly's screams and watched her struggle. They were too frightened to move. Six feet away a teamster stopped his horses and saw the robbery. Twelve feet east on the sidewalk were dozens of men and women approaching, and many others across the street. By the time they realized the situation the thief had run around the corner into Robbins Lane, turned into Lucas avenue and thence into Seventeenth street.

He was pursued by two score of men and women, but had disappeared from sight when the crowd reached Lucas avenue.

INSANITY MAY BE PLEADED

Wm. Everson Killed His Infant Daughter.

TRIAL JURY BEING CHOSEN

PRISONER CLAIMS HE DOES NOT REMEMBER HIS ACT.

The Calling to Clayton of Experts on Mental Diseases Indicates the Line of the Defense.

Temporary insanity will probably be the defense of William R. Everson, on trial in the St. Louis County Circuit Court at Clayton for the murder of his infant daughter, Frances.

The selection of 12 jurymen was begun Thursday afternoon from a special venire summoned Wednesday. The case will be tried before Judge McElhiney.

Everson's attorneys have not outlined their case, and will not tell the theory of the defense.

But the question asked the jurymen on Wednesday afternoon and the fact that Dr. Wilson of Steeleville, Mo., Everson's family physician, and Dr. Runge, superintendent of the St. Louis asylum, are witnesses, indicates that the defendant will allege that he was insane when he shot his child.

Prisoner Only Says "I Don't Know."

"I don't know myself that I have shot my baby. My wife says I did. I don't know. I don't know," the prisoner said Thursday.

Everson shot the child at Meramec Heights April 2, in the presence of her mother.

Mrs. Everson fled from the room and Everson turned the pistol to his breast and fired. The shot pierced his right lung, but he had strength to run from the house to the home of R. Hank, where he fell exhausted on the porch.

The shooting was done at the home of Jacob Place, Mrs. Everson's father.

Everson had been staying there for several months, ill and despondent.

It is said he heard his wife talking with Isaac Allen a few minutes before the shooting. When she returned to the room Everson jumped from his bed and caught up a revolver.

Case Not Unlike Duestrow Murder.

Pointing the weapon at the babe he fired.

Mrs. Everson ran from the room.

Neighbors found the child dead and Everson, wounded, two blocks from the scene of the tragedy.

He was taken back to the house and guarded until he recovered.

May 10 he was taken to Clayton jail where he has remained. He has been a good prisoner and has given no indications of insanity, Sheriff Hencken says.

The case, not unlike the Duestrow murder in St. Louis, has aroused great interest in the county.

Over fifty witnesses will be examined. Everson's father, Charles W. Everson of Espytown, Mo., is here to aid his son.

Prosecuting Attorney Heidorn and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Warfield will represent the state.

Attorney Anthony, R. L. Shackleford and Roland Johnson will defend Everson.

MISS KRIEGER IS BURIED

Body of Aged and Once Prominent Musical Teacher Laid to Rest in Calvary.

The body of Miss Cornelia Krieger, who 25 years ago was a prominent figure in St. Louis musical circles, was laid to rest in Calvary Cemetery Wednesday afternoon. She died Tuesday at the age of 75 years at the home of her niece, Miss Mary Kunz, 408 Cerre street.

The late years of the aged woman have been marked by a bitter struggle. She died in poverty.

Miss Krieger's father brought his six daughters from Bavaria in 1850, when he failed in business there. Miss Cornelia went to Memphis, but two years later came to St. Louis. She had received a thorough musical education from the masters of Europe, and for support taught here. Her exceptional talent and ability to instruct soon won recognition, and members of the Anheuser, Chouteau, Koehler and Lipmann families were her pupils.

As she aged her skill diminished, and gradually fortune's smiles faded. Her bank account dwindled away, and during the last two years her source of income was from two or three pupils, daughters of neighbors.

Seven months ago her only surviving sister, Mrs. Mary Kunz, died.

GIRL OF THIRTEEN MAY WED

Mother of Miss Ruth Hardten Says the Ceremony May Be Delayed at the Last Moment.

A marriage license was issued Thursday morning to Charles Henry of 3428 Bell avenue and Miss Ruth Hardten of 1726 Glasgow avenue.

Miss Hardten said she was only 13 years old, but that her mother, Mrs. Mary Hardten, consented to the wedding.

Henry gave his age as 21.

After securing the license Henry escorted Miss Hardten to her mother's home.

Mrs. Hardten told the Post-Dispatch that the wedding may be performed Thursday afternoon, and might not.

"There may be developments yet," she said, without explaining what she meant by that declaration.

Miss Hardten is a comely, petite blonde. She appears to be about 16 years old.

ADOPT STANDARD BOX CAR.

American Railway Association Takes Important Step Before Adjourning.

The semi-annual meeting of the American Railway Association adjourned late Wednesday afternoon to meet in New York in April, 1902.

The most important work of the association was the adoption of standard box cars for the railroads of the United States, Canada and Mexico. It is 36 feet long, 8 feet and 6 inches wide and 8 feet high, inside measurement.

The committee that reported in favor of the car worked on the subject over two years. It had the following members: St. Crago of the Pierre Marquette; A. W. Johnson of the Nickel Plate; F. D. Underwood of the Erie; A. M. Waitt of the New York Central; J. J. Frey of the Grand Creek; G. W. Rhodes of the Burlington, and J. J. Turner of the Pennsylvania.

The association represents 195,000 miles of railroad and the new car will be put in operation over all the great systems in it as soon as possible.

WHY BUY COAL when GAS is not so dear and a BACKUS GAS STEAM HEATER can be rented by the year?

Why ruin your sight when the WELSBACH lamps are so bright and 1011 OLIVE open from morning until night?

POLICEMAN HEARD A DRUM.

Went to Locate It and Philip Goldstein's Store Was Robbed.

A big bass drum, beaten by an enthusiastic nocturnal serenader played a part in the robbery of Philip Goldstein's tailoring rooms on the third floor of the building at 914½ Olive street Tuesday night.

"The policeman on the beat told me about the drum," said Mr. Goldstein to the Post-Dispatch Thursday. "He said he was passing the building about 12 o'clock Tuesday night when he heard somebody beating a drum around the corner. He said he went to see what occasioned that sort of a serenade at the midnight hour. Twenty minutes later he told me that my shop had been entered.

"I guess he was right, for the night-watchman, Bell, told me it happened between 12 and 1 o'clock."

Mr. Goldstein says that cloth valued at $200 was taken. He says that this is the third time his store has been robbed this year.

A man leaving St. Louis at 8:50 p. m. today will reach Joplin at 7:35 tomorrow morning, provided his ticket reads via the Frisco system. Or he can leave St. Louis at 10 p. m. and arrive at Joplin at 10:05 a. m. next day, via same route.

BIGGEST WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

A WORD TO THE APOSTLES OF CULTURE.

The good ladies who deplore the lack of taste and esthetic culture in St. Louis are reminded that on Tuesday we turned over a new leaf.

No more bad streets, no more tumble-down public buildings, no more ragtime politics. We mean to be good from this time forth forever more. There are 600,000 little Jack Horners in St. Louis all clamoring for good literature, good music, good architecture, good morals, good government—in short, the Truly Good.

That means the best.

In the musical line we will never, no never, listen to anything but Beethoven and Bach, Chopin and Schumann.

We are new, very new. We propose to gleam like a Pullman car just out of the shops, and glitter like the diamond in the bosom of a New York politician.

We are going to have money to buy municipal loveliness and public order, money to buy political wisdom, money to buy personal character and culture.

Now let the children of light assemble themselves together and let their light so shine that all these boughten goods may be molded into forms of real worth and beauty.

Don't scold us for our sins. We have repented. Show us the way. We desire to walk in it. We will do our part; see that you do yours.

The adoption of the charter amendments proclaims to the world that St. Louis is fully awake to the great opportunities now before her.

JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

In the Philadelphia juvenile court may be seen a practical illustration of the new mode of dealing with youthful offenders.

One small boy who had stolen 40 cents from an aged colored man who sells newspapers was given a lecture and committed to an orphanage where he will receive the moral instruction he does not get at home.

A little chap tired of his home and ventured to fight life's battle alone. He ran away, worked on the docks for a time and wound up as a p'ain loafer. He was brought up on a charge of vagrancy and sent back to his home, where the probationary officer will keep an eye on him.

A brood of children, imitating their parents' vicious lives, and habituated to the use of foul language and beer, were taken under the protection of the court.

In these and many other cases the children were practically made wards of the city. They are looked after by the probationary officer, checked in their waywardness and guided in the right path.

This is sane and sensible. It is better to save while there is yet time, than to condemn when it is too late to save. To begin at the beginning—that is the highest wisdom.

Mr. Busch is satisfied, from his observations abroad, that more people from foreign countries will visit St. Louis in 1903 than ever before attended an international exposition. Certainly it is more important to Europe to be well represented than it has ever been before.

METHODS OF GETTING WORK.

A newcomer to the city writes to the Post-Dispatch, enclosing a receipt for $2 which he has paid to a so-called employment company. He recites the circumstances and result as follows:

"I read an advertisement in a paper about this employment company, that they guarantee all work. So I saw the manager and he spoke very nicely and told me to sign that paper. I did so, but did not read it, as he gave me no chance."

When no result followed, the applicant, who is a married man with four children, and was at his last resources, asked for his money back, but says he was thrown out of the office.

The first thing to note about this incident is that the employment man knew how to reach people, and the man seeking employment did not. The former advertised, and his clients came to him without further trouble. The latter only informed one man of his need, which was great. The general public, including thousands of employers requiring help, knew nothing of it.

There is a business-like method of seeking employment. Like other good business methods, it has been tested and proved. It succeeds. It is to advertise your Want and your ability.

And there is an unbusiness-like, old-time, unsuccessful method. It is to pay an exorbitant price to an individual, who may be irresponsible and who does not guarantee to let your Wants be known to the entire employing public, as the Post-Dispatch does.

The lesson is plain. Advertise in Post-Dispatch Wants. The unanimous verdict is that this is the only method that is worth while.

The great parties united in securing the charter amendments. Why should they not unite in securing the best attainable city government?

WORK FOR WOMEN.

In the work of improvement about to begin in St. Louis women will have an opportunity to do the public an inestimable service.

Municipal business is not political and partisanship is always undesirable, often fatal. Yet political organizations are in control of municipal affairs. In every large city it is the same story. Public business is directed too often by men combined for no public purpose, but only to further private personal advantage. It is desirable in St. Louis to preserve the public advantage gained last April, increase it and above all prevent any backsliding.

Now, women know nothing of politics of the baser sort. To them a boss is a boss, and they cannot distinguish between a Democratic kettle and a Republican pot. But they know what is decent and right in public and private conduct and, if they choose, can exercise a powerful influence by keeping men up to the mark and supplying moral considerations to those whose extreme practicality sometimes leads them to pay too great heed to mere expediency. Practical men are prone to measure the cost and say: "Progress is slow; we must temporize, compromise, yield a little." Women see in the conditions something to do, and say "let us do it."

It is this feminine element in character that is very much needed in public life just now; nowhere more so than in St. Louis. Temptations which assail a man have no power over a woman and the woman ought to help the man withstand the solicitations of the devil.

The work is at hand. Singly and in clubs women can use their force. They need not be deadheads in the enterprise. The woman who counts is wanted just now.

The announcement that new competition is meeting the trusts everywhere may serve to calm some of the apprehensions in regard to the growth of monopoly. There is still a great deal of enterprise and capital outside the combines, and some of the consolidations have been losing money.

FOR BETTER BUILDINGS.

With the adoption of the charter amendments that assure a New St. Louis many things will come up for the bettering of the city. One of the most important of these is a demand for better buildings.

In many quarters of the city the eye is offended and real estate values kept down by ancient, ramshackle structures that might, perhaps, have been excusable a generation ago, but whose existence today is an eyesore and a drawback to prosperity. Their increase by duplicating them in new structures would be little less than a crime.

During the past season an unusual increase in building was perceptible, especially west of Grand avenue, particularly in small residences for immediate sale and flat houses. As a rule, to a great extent, these buildings were crudely planned, with only the most absolutely essential conveniences, and constructed so hurriedly and with such lack of careful workmanship as to lose their attractiveness in a fraction of the time they should last. Then they will rapidly mar otherwise desirable residence districts, just as older similar eyesores do in downtown regions.

Yet such has been the growth of the city in the past year that even these makeshifts of dwellings are rented so readily as to incite fresh offenses in the same line.

It is a frequent complaint that St. Louis has few apartment houses with modern conveniences. Yet those who have built them never lack tenants at big figures. Indeed, so pronounced is the demand that it is a wonder the supply is so far behind. The difference in cost is so small that it is far overbalanced by the lengthened time during which they will bring an increased rental over the cheap affairs so plentiful.

The reason for the many poor and the few good buildings is in the prevalence of that faculty which keenly observes a dime at the end of the nose, but does not see a dollar a little beyond it. That is a faculty to be set aside in the New St. Louis we can now obtain.

It is hard to prescribe a satisfying remedy for the evil complained of, except in a sincere and universal cultivation of that spirit of zeal for the public good that must actuate us from now on if we wish to keep up with the procession.

Sir Thomas Lipton's opinion that "there are no girls like American girls" is another proof of his high qualities. And when he adds he won't marry till he lifts the cup, the suspicion is aroused that some American girl has put him on his mettle. In such circumstances who can help wishing him success?

FIVE-CENT GAS.

Engineering (London) reports that Dr. Ludwig Mond, the English chemist, has succeeded after years of experimenting in making a cheap gas.

The poorest bituminous slack is used and during the conversion to gas the greater part of the ammonia contained in the slack is saved.

It is said that the gas is to be sold at two pence a thousand, about four cents. This indicates a fuel cost of one-eighth of a penny unit per hour.

Even greater possibilities are claimed for the gas. But it is hardly worth while to consider them. When gas can be sold at a profit for 5 cents a thousand, the meter will recover its reputation for veracity and gas companies may be induced to sell it actually for 25 cents.

The glaring discrepancies in the amounts of taxes paid by railroads in Illinois will considerably interest other taxpayers. The decrease of 10 to 40 per cent from the railroad taxes paid in 1899 is amazing, considering the continued prosperity of the roads. Do Illinois officials receive free passes and other favors from railroads?

Impecunious Americans may now consider the case of Lee Choup, Chinaman, who returns to China with $150,000 made in the United States. If a Chinaman can get so much in a strange land, why is it not possible for an intelligent American to acquire at home?

Poor Buller retires from the army with his military reputation shattered. And he hasn't even a reputation as a talker to hide his destitution.

A paper company to fight the paper trust is to go to work on $17,000,000 of watered stock. "Water, water everywhere."

The Mossbacks in St. Louis are numbered. There are just 10,136 of them.

St. Louis has ordered the Mossbacks to "go 'way back and sit down."

The World's Fair will be held in a World's Fair City.

New St. Louis is no longer a figure of speech.

POST-DISPATCH SNAP SHOTS.

With a trust embracing all the plants producing cameras and photographic supplies, will the amateur photographer be able to follow his art and still pay all his grocery bills?

The Boer is an exceedingly lively flea. The British columns, after long night marches, arrive only to find that the Dutchman has disappeared.

The disappearance of the pup Monticello, which the Jefferson Club brought home from the tomb of Jefferson, is a serious matter. Unscrupulous sausage makers make no distinctions in their business.

An inebriate asylum is to be built upon the Kentucky farm on which Abranam Lincoln was born, and water from the spring at which he used to drink is to be sold in bottles—doubtless outside the state.

The use of horse meat and mule meat for corned beef, hamburger steak and sausages in Chicago appears to have had much to do with the success of free lunches in that city. But of course some prejudiced epicures are "kicking."

Mineralogists will be delighted to learn that Dr. Day will bring to the World's Fair of 1903 the platinum, osmium, tungsten, molybdeum and vanadium he found on the Pacific coast, however much other people may ask to be shown.

When burglars can crawl under the floor of a postoffice, bore 97 holes in the bottom of a steel vault and steal $75,000 worth of postage stamps, as they have just done in Chicago, how is Uncle Samuel to sell stamps without making a reduction in the price?

Smokers.

Are you a smoky smoker,
As grimy as a stoker,
A careless, puffing joker,
And do you smoke your cigarettes and pipes upon the cars?
In all the public places,
At ten or twenty paces,
Do you blow in the faces
Of ladies and your fellow men the smoke of rank cigars?

Then you, for all your capers,
Get "wrote up" in the papers,
So vile are all the tapers
You spend your extra nickels for, you disrespectful fellow!
The ladies all abhor you;
The street cars ought to bar you;
Such places are not for you—
Your breath is always reeking and your very lungs are yellow.

This daily agitation
Will yet arouse the nation.
This sort of perturbation
Is bound to end disastrously, and some one will regret it.
The action isn't through, for
They're going for the two-for;
Yes, they are after you, for
Against the public you have sinned, and you're the one who'll get it!

TOO MANY ACCIDENTS.

Before you go hunting,
Observe this note:
Better take along
A bullet-proof coat.

The charter amendments went through with a rush. Now watch St. Louis rush into her new garments.

Mrs. Blair tells us in plain language that St. Louis is given over to ragtime, and that it is not a musical city, as has been so often said. But the charter amendments have been passed since then.

A STEERABLE BALLOON.

M. Santos-Dumont, the famous amateur balloonist, refuses to write of his own achievements, but has consented to the publication in the November Century of an article on his invention, by Sterling Heilig, in which his views are clearly stated.

"Suppose you buy a new bicycle or automobile," he says. "You will have a perfect machine to your hand; but it does not necessarily mean that you will go spinning with it over the highways. You may be so unpractised that you fall off the bicycle or blow up the automobile. The machine is all right, but you must learn to run it. That is what I am doing with my airship."

This is what the crowds of Parisians who have been following M. Santos-Dumont's aerial evolutions take but imperfectly into account; and the readers of the daily papers in far-off lands, who hear of his trials and narrow escapes only by way of garbled and hurriedly written cable dispatches, are still less likely to appreciate it. Everything about the navigation of the air is new; the newest of all is the art—practised only by this daring youth—of diving and mounting obliquely in the air by means of his propeller force. In the complicated and novel task of putting an air-ship through its best paces, much must necessarily be at the mercy of chance details. Thus a trial trip whose start and finish were witnessed by scarcely twenty-five persons was much more satisfactory than the succeeding day's official trial before the Technical committee of the Deutsch Prize Foundation and a brilliant tout-Paris assemblage.

On this occasion (the morning of July 13, 1901) M. Santos-Dumont sped straight through the air above western Paris to the Eiffel Tower, turned round it, and returned to his starting point, a distance of eleven kilometers (nearly seven miles), in thirty-nine minutes, and this in spite of a new petroleum motor that was discovered to be working imperfectly shortly after starting. The day before, while going over the same course, he found that his right-hand rudder-guide had become loose. This happened near the Eiffel Tower. Without sacrificing a cubic inch of gas, he descended to the ground by mean of his shifting-weights; that is to say, he pointed the nose of his cigar-shaped balloon obliquely downward and navigated to the surface of the earth by means of his propeller. There he procured a ladder and repaired his rudder-guide. Then he mounted into the air and resumed his course without sacrificing a pound of ballast; that is to say, he pointed the balloon's nose obliquely upward by means of the shifting-weights, and so navigated on high again by the force of his propeller.

To those who know anything about dirigible balloons, these evolutions, simple as they appear, constitute M. Santos-Dumont's greatest triumph. They have never been accomplished by any other aeronaut.

ODD BITS OF LIFE.

It is the custom in most countries in Europe to hold the hat in the hand while talking to a friend. In Sweden, to avoid the dangers arising from this during the winter, it is no uncommon thing to see announcements in the daily paper informing the friends of Mr. So-and-So that he is unable, through the doctor's orders, to conform to this polite usage.

The reappearance on the English stage of George Coppin at the age of 83 recalls that of Charles Macklin at Covent Garden in 1789, when in his 100th year. He represented his favorite character of Shylock, and even at that great age he was physically capable of performing the part with great vigor, but in the second act his memory failed him and he came forward with an apology to the audience. He died at the age of 107.

The attitude of the sultan of Turkey toward France has suggested to the residents in Tunis, which belongs to France, a form of reprisal which will not commend itself to the Mohammedan mind. The evening prayer every Friday in the mosques now concludes with the words: "May God give victory to the commander of the faithful, the sultan Abdul Hamid!" It is proposed to substitute "French republic," thus placing the Mohammedan worship on the same footing as that of other religions.

BIRDS OF PASSAGE.

Only a year ago today
One sunny morning we both remember!
Love was a bird that came to stay,
Only a year ago—today.
Wings a-flutter, 'tis flown away
Like summer swallows in late September
Only * * * a year ago today
One sunny morning we both remember.

COBBLER FIT FOR THE GODS.—Peach cobbler as far outshines plain peach pie "as daylight doth a lamp." Line a generous deep pie dish with good paste, rolled a quarter of an inch thick. Fit and trim this crust well, then butter it all around the edges. Fill the dish heaping full of ripe, juicy peaches, pared and quartered, not forgetting to put in several on the seed. Cover them with a crust, trim it, pinch the edge slighly, prick over the top and bake half an hour in a brisk, steady oven. When done take off the top crust; lay it upside down in a big plate, then mash the peaches in the pie; sweeten them well and beat into them a lump of butter as big as a walnut. When the butter is well mixed, add two tablespoonfuls of sherry, let it stand a minute, then dip out fruit enough to cover the top crust. Sprinkle both crusts lightly with sugar just before serving. Cream, either whipped or plain, may be served with the cobbler. Or the fruit may be lightly sweetened after opening the pie and served with a very rich sherry wine sauce. The sherry flavor accords better with peaches than does that of any other wine. Delicate eaters prefer to have the peaches left almost tart, and then to cover the pie with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with sherry.

PEACH ROLL THAT MELTS IN THE MOUTH.—Cream together half a cup of butter and a cup of sugar, and two well-beaten eggs, also half a pint of rich milk. Mix well, then sift in flour enough to make a soft dough. Divide the dough in three, roll out each in a long oval and cover the upper sides of the dough sheets with ripe peaches, peeled, and sliced thin. Roll up the sheets, pinch the ends and lay them in a baking pan side by side. Serve with a very rich, sweet sauce, flavored with the peach kernels, blanched and shredded fine. To make this sauce, cream a cup of butter, mix in a wine with two cups of sugar, beat very light, then set over hot water, and in a little at a time, half a pint of good sherry. Add the shredded kernels and stir hard. Keep the water around the sauce boiling until ready to serve. Cut the roll in thin slices, put on each plate and deluge them with the sauce.

SAUERKRAUT.—Now is the time to prepare sauerkraut for winter use. It can be made at home at a moderate cost, and little work need be expended. A 10-gallon jar anould be purchased. Cut two dozen large, sound heads of cabbage on a slaw cutter or with a kraut knife into long, fine shreds. Scatter half a cupful of salt on the bottom of the jar, arrange a quart of the cabbage in a thick layer over this and sprinkle two tablespoonfuls of the salt water over this. Now mash and pound the cabbage with a wooden mallet or heavy wooden potato masher until the juice exudes freely; then arrange another layer of cabbage and salt and press the juice out again. Continue this process until the cabbage is all used. When it is all well covered with juice spread a cloth over the top, invert a large plate on it and lay a heavy weight or stone on it. Place the jar in a cold place and the kraut will be ready to use within two or three weeks.

APPLE CREAM CAKE.—This popular dessert quite rivals strawberry shortcake and is certain to appeal to the masculine palate. Prepare the cake by beating the yolks of three eggs until light and creamy, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, the grated rind of half a lemon and one small half cupful of water. Sift two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with two cupfuls of flour; cut them into the egg mixture and lastly add the beaten white of the eggs. Bake in two round shallow pans, and when they are done split them and spread with the apple cream.

APPLE CREAM.—Steam three large sour apples until they are soft, then rub them through a sieve. Beat the whites of three eggs stiff and gradually add three-fourths of a cupful of powdered sugar and a few drops of lemon juice. Add the apple and beat it until stiff enough to stand alone. Place on the ice and spread it cold upon the cakes, which may be either hot or cold. Serve with whipped cream.

GRAHAM BREAD.—Make a sponge as for white bread and when it has risen add to it two parts of graham flour to one part of white, a handful of Indian meal, and a teaspoonful of salt. Mix and knead, adding as you do so, a gill of molasses. Have the dough soft and set to rise over night. When it has risen to twice its original size, knead again, make into loaves and set to rise for half an hour before baking.

SOMETHING NEW IN PIES.—Plum pie is a recognized summer privilege, but few there are who know plum custard pie. Scald until soft a quart of fleshy, well-flavored plums, rub them through a colander, throw away the skins, crack a dozen of the pits, blanch the kernels and add them to the pulp. Cream half a pound of butter with a pound of sugar, add the yolks of six eggs, beat very light, then add the plum pulp, taste the mixture and if too tart add more sugar. Line pie pans with good paste, pour in the custard half an inch deep and bake in a brisk oven. Make the egg whites into meringue and heap the pies with it as they come from the oven, and set them back for a minute.

Cheer These Little Lives.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A letter in your paper headed, "How to Make the Sick Children Happy," interested me very much, as I had that day called at the Free Hospital for Children, corner Jefferson avenue and Adams street.

Of course the little ones are just as happy as their conditions permit them to be, and those who are fortunate to possess fond mothers are doubly blessed. What appealed most to my sympathy was the sad expression of the orphans' faces. One dear little girl of 9 years old, who has been an orphan and a cripple, with hip disease, since her third year interested me especially, and in conversation I mentioned the many callers.

"Oh," she said, "you ought to come here on a Sunday afternoon, we have so many here that we haven't enough chairs for them." And then, with the saddest look imaginable in her soft brown eyes and a pitiful shake of her light curls, she added: "But nobody ever calls on me."

Just think of it, you little girls who have fond mothers to cheer you when you are sick, this little cripple hobbling on crutches—hungry for some one to love her, some one to come to the hospital to call on "Dora English." I would gladly take her into my heart, but have three little girls of my own who monopolize nearly all my time and all of my heart.

But, dear editor, hoping that this may meet the kind eyes of some lonely lady who could befriend this little heroine, who has borne her afflictions so bravely and so cheerfully, I am,

A Vote of Confidence.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The magnificent vote cast for the Charter Amendments, which insures the improvement of St. Louis in streets, sewers and public institutions, was not so much a change in civic pride, because this city can always be depended upon to take its place in the front rank of progress. But the vote was one of confidence in the present democratic administration, at whose head is Mayor Wells, a sturdy and honest business man. The people know that the much needed improvement will now be made, and that every dollars contributed for public improvements by the taxpayers will be honestly expended.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Dress Bills.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We would very much like to know how the first lady of the land can dress on $300 a year. What she pays for her tailor-made gowns (ours cost $90), reception gown, shoes, hose, underwear, etc., not saying anything about the little accessories to a lady's toilet so necessary. Then there are hats, gloves and coats, what of them? We would very much like to have her tell us if she has a good tailor or dressmaker who makes a good dress less than $18 to $20.

As it takes every bit of $100 per month to dress us girls and we feel we are very economical, even make our own house dresses. "OUR GIRLS."

A Transportation Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While we are trying on our new dress for the edification of our numerous visitors to the World's Fair that is to be, what means of transportation have we to offer, outside of those we are in possession of now, and which are totally inadequate to our present wants.

Time is money to most of us and when we stop to consider how much of it we spend on our present means of transportation we are startled at its wilful waste. Most of our great cities have solved the problem of rapid transit in elevated railways, and let me say right here a more delightful, comfortable and intelligent way of transportation for those who value time and comfort in persuit of business has as yet not been devised.

In connection with this subject I believe that the Suburban Railroad Company has the ideal route for an elevated road. Centrally located, with branches running north, south and west and for a good part of the western line they own private way. The solution of an elevated railway system, in my opinion is solved and quick and practical route to the World's Fair via the Suburban road is now in order. QUO VADIS.

Negro Representation at the World's Fair.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I regard the appeal made to the World's Fair committee by Mr. Parker in behalf of a special representation of the negro race as one of the greatest importance.

Thus far the World's Fair committeemen seem equal to this grand opportunity of taking an elevated and advanced position on the matters of greatest moment that are being presented.

On this important subject they can make no mistake by promptly offering the negro every possible assistance for this exhibit.

Born and reared among and the owner of slaves, I know there is among negroes a large proportion of honest, ambitious, virtuous men and women, which proportion will be largely increased by just such recognition as the World's Fair management can give them.

Their effort at Nashville, Tenn., limited as it was, was most creditable.

In every aspect of the case, whether of patriotism, morals, commercial, or merely a question of gate receipts, it will pay to give the negro this opportunity.

SOUTHERNER.

Disposal of Garbage.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The minority vote in the City Council last Friday favoring the suggestion of Mr. Gibson to ask the government's permission to throw, temporarily, the city's garbage in the river is a good and sensible measure.

It will save to the city for three years (the time of the new contract at $130,000 a year) the greatest part of the enormous sum of $390,000, less, of course, the expense of carting away the garbage to the river.

Is it worth the while to benefit the city to that large amount of money, in presence of the almost total emptiness of the city's coffers?

The fact of disposing of the garbage in the river will not militate in the least against the city's law suit against Chicago, for this reason: The garbage will certainly not contaminate the river to any appreciable degree, because it will come direct from the kitchen without being in a state of putrifaction.

As to dead animals, they can be burned by the city at small expense. C. L. C.

St. Louis Boy on a Mule Ship.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I read in the Post-Dispatch about the British forcing our St. Louis boys to enlist while they were under the influence of drink. Through your good paper I ask, can't something be done to stop that kind of business? I've got a brother, he is on one of those mule fleet ships and mother is being worried day and night about him, afraid they will make him enlist as they did this young West and his companions. We haven't heard a word of him since he left. That was the 11th of September. Now I think something could be done through your good paper. Hoping to get some information, I am A READER.

Gardeners Wanted in Alaska.

From the Washington Star.

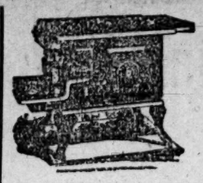

The chances of young men to engage in trade in Alaska are still abundant. The dairyman of Juneau is getting rich. The gardener made a fortune this season from a little two-acre patch of ground, despite the fact that there are a great number of vegetables that will not thrive in this country. Tomatoes will not mature. The vines thrive well but will not produce fruit. Cabbages grow until they become immense in size, but the heads will not get hard. Potatoes grow out of the ground and are not palatable. The gardener made his cucumbers will not grow on account of the excessive moisture and sea spray. Hardly anything else in the way of vegetables can be raised in the country.

NEW ST. LOUIS IS TO BE IMPROVED AT ONCE

Commissioners Varrelmann and Hermann Tell the Post-Dispatch What They Purpose Doing Immediately Under Charter Amendments--Terms of Payment by Property Owners Defined.

Street Commissioner Varrelmann told the Post-Dispatch Thursday that the work of preparing ordinances for the rebuilding of the streets of St. Louis had begun, and outlined for the first time the scheme for street improvement.

"We need draughtsmen," said Mr. Varrelmann, "and could give profitable employment to ten or twelve in the next few weeks. With the small force we have, the work is being done as fast as possible, and the dates for hearings will be announced within a week.

"Hearings will be kept up all winter, and if the Assembly will do its part there will be no delay in making the New St. Louis."

A large area of territory paved with brick and asphalt in the World's Fair neighborhood and the central portion of the city, and many similar improvements in other sections, are planned by Mr. Varrelmann.

In the territory bounded by Broadway, Union boulevard, Market street and Laclede avenue and Franklin avenue and West Morgan street, every street not now paved with granite, brick or asphalt is to be reconstructed with one of these materials.

Such streets as Washington and Delmar boulevards and West Morgan street, which, although lined with valuable property, are still paved with macadam; will be repaved.

From this central area, devoted entirely to modern improved streets, main thoroughfares of improvement will radiate to the north and south, and plans for the reconstruction of North and South St. Louis streets, now wholly given over to macadam and mud, will be carried out.

South St. Louis Will Have New Streets.

Eighteenth and Gravois avenue will be the first streets in South St. Louis to be improved. Thirteenth street, from the junction of Thirteenth, Eighteenth and Gravois avenue, will be made a southern continuation of the Eighteenth street improvement.

Cherokee street, now partially reconstructed, will be finished. Several east and west streets, between Chouteau avenue and Sidney street, yet to be decided on, will be paved to Jefferson avenue.

Jefferson and California avenues are to be reconstructed for their entire lengths. Grand avenue, south of Lafayette avenue and north of St. Louis avenue, is to be reconstructed. Arsenal street, as far west as Grand avenue, is on the improvement list.

King's Highway boulevard, north and south, is to encircle the city. Its southern connection with Broadway will be furnished by Loughborough avenue, passing Carondelet Park, which will be paved when the adjacent part of King's Highway is improved.

Manchester avenue, the great highway of southwest St. Louis, which is now in wretched condition, will be paved from its junction with Old Manchester road to the city limits.

North of Franklin avenue, the first streets on the reconstruction list are Biddle and O'Fallon. Cass avenue is now paved from west as Hogan street with granite, thence with brick from Twenty-second street to Jefferson avenue and the work will be carried west to Grand avenue or to the junction with Easton, a block beyond.

North Market street, ultimately to be improved to Taylor avenue or beyond, is the next important street on the list.

Salisbury street and Natural Bridge road, converging at Jefferson avenue, will form the central portion of the North St. Louis scheme.

This is a cherished plan of the North St. Louis Improvement Association.

Ninth and Twentieth streets, for their entire northern extent, will be the first streets running north to be rebuilt.

Florissant avenue is to be made a paved thoroughfare to the cemeteries and may be used as a boulevard.

East Grand avenue is included in the Grand avenue improvement already mentioned, and will be remade to Broadway.

Broadway, from Gano avenue to the city limits, will be taken up in time, but not among the first or second collection of ordinances.

In Northwest St. Louis, Page avenue will be completed, and other streets will be included in the list later. Easton avenue, west of King's highway, will undergo reconstruction to the city limits.

In several populous parts of the city, street reconstruction will have to wait on sewer building, otherwise new brick and asphalt pavements would have to be torn up within a few weeks after being laid. For this reason and because sewer construction is needed, the work of preparing legislation for new sewers is being hastened in preference to that for new streets.

"The ordinances are being prepared for four joint district sewers," said Commissioner Hermann Thursday. "I am short of draftsmen, but the work is being done as fast as possible. It is a more complicated task than that of laying out districts for street improvements, as the territory embraced in a sewer district includes many streets, and the proportion of each holding to the total area must be figured out in apportioning the cost of the work."

The first sewer which Mr. Hermann plans to build is on Cabanne, draining a tract a mile in area.

The Tower Grove storm sewer, for lack of which the city is overwhelmed with damage suits every time there is a hard rain, is next on Mr. Hermann's list.

The Arsenal street relief sewer, Benton Park sewer and Mill Creek relief sewer will be taken up in the order named.

As was repeatedly stated during the campaign for the charter amendments, every dollar raised for street reconstruction will be spent within a half block of the property which pays the taxes for the work.

Street improvement "districts" are not wide areas subject to a general tax. Each street to be improved is the center of its own district, which extends for a half block on each side. One-fourth of the whole cost of the reconstruction is paid by the property fronting on the street, the "front foot" plan being followed, and the other three-fourths is paid by all the property holders of the "district" on the area plan. Those who have first paid one-fourth are included in their due proportion in the list of those who are required to pay the three-fourths.

Joint district sewers are to be paid for equally by all property in the territory which they drain, according to area.

Street railway companies will be required to pay the cost of paving between their rails and for one foot on each side of the rails on all streets where they hold franchises.

All payments for street and sewer reconstruction will be made on the intallment plan, in three or seven annual payments. The rate of interest will be 6 per cent, increasing after maturity to 8 per cent.

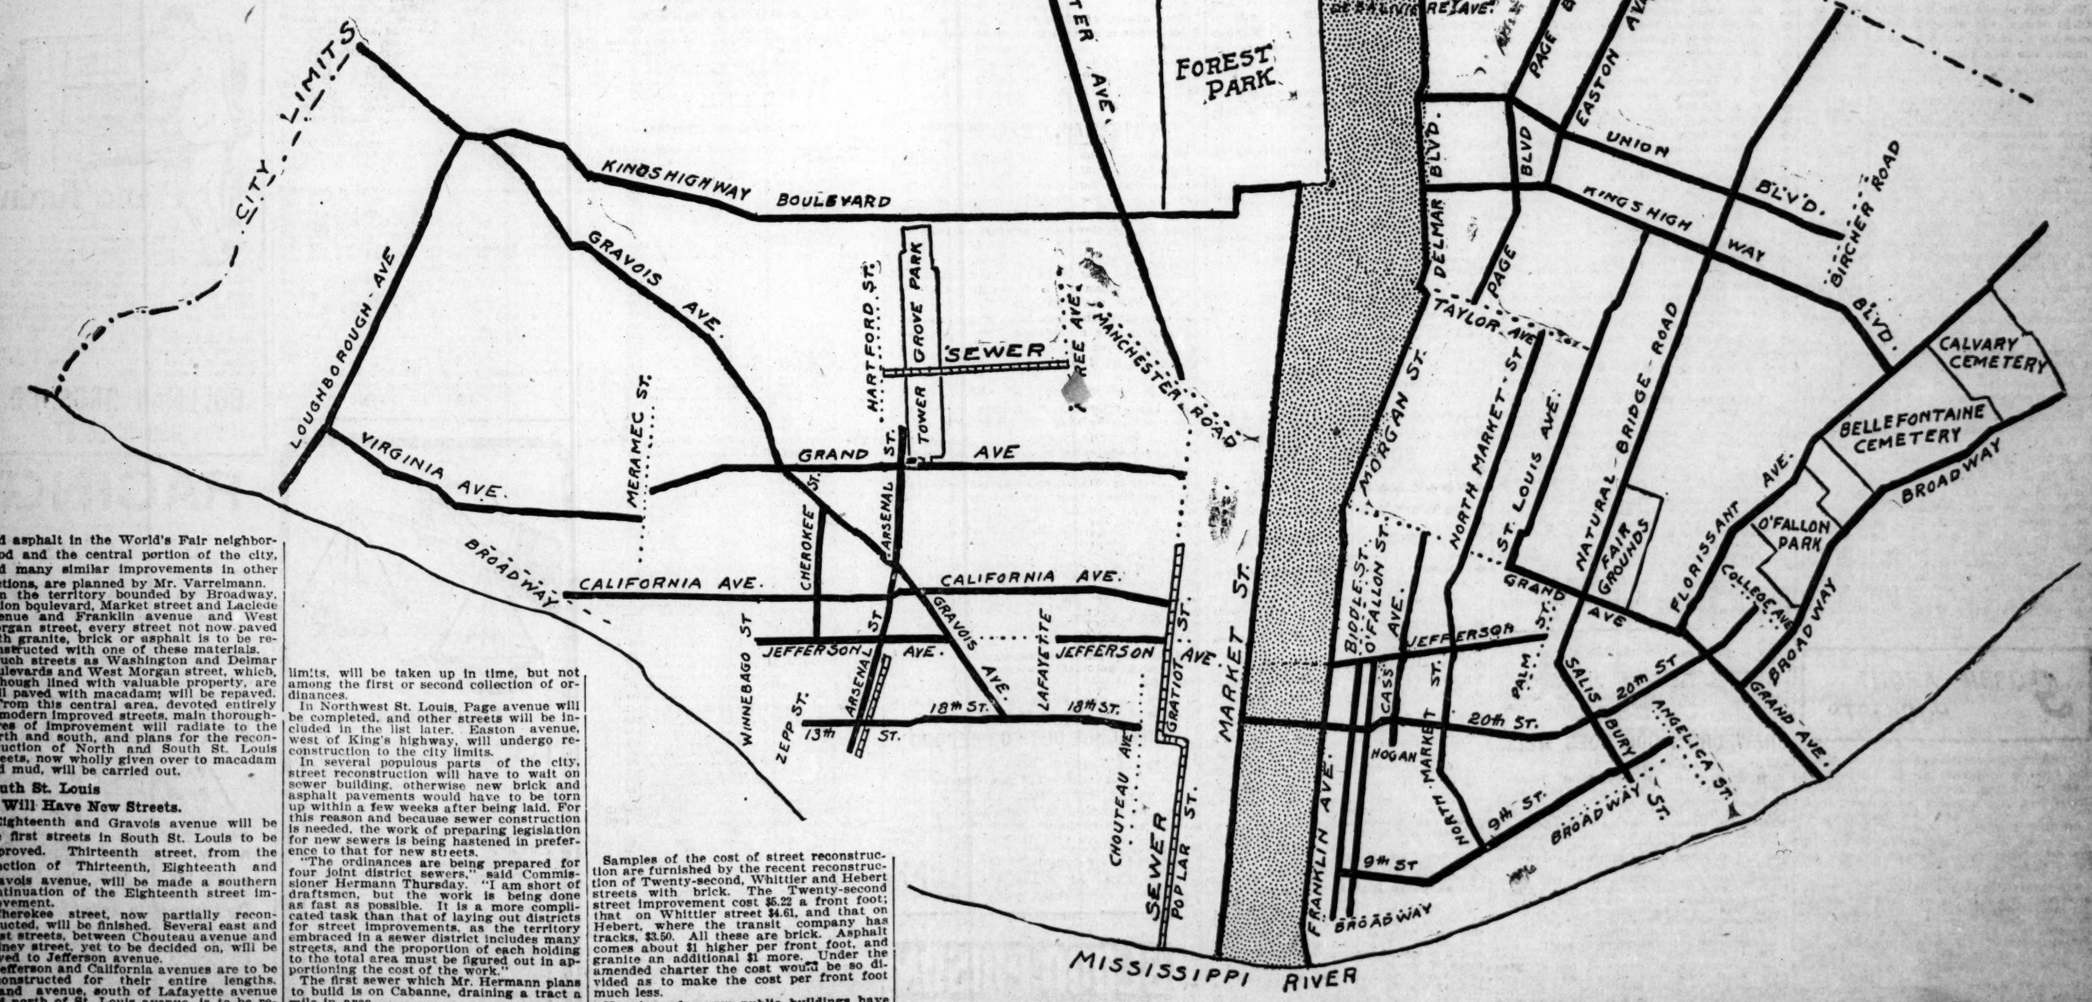

Special tax bills will be collected by the city marshal and his deputies.

Samples of the cost of street reconstruction are furnished by the recent reconstruction of Twenty-second, Whittier and Hebert streets with brick. The Twenty-second street improvement cost $5.22 a front foot; that on Whittier street $4.61, and that on Hebert, where the transit company has tracks, $3.50. All these are brick. Asphalt comes about $1 higher per front foot, and granite an additional $1 more. Under the amended charter the cost would be so divided as to make the cost per front foot much less.

No plans for new public buildings have yet been made. A new special election will be required before any money can be secured for such purposes. The new City Hospital is considered the most urgent necessity in this line.

Except for the relief afforded by some changes in the system of street and sewer building, the revenues of the city will not be augmented by the charter amendments until the state constitution has been amended.

Proposed amendments to the state constitution, which "dovetail" into certain portions of amendment 3 to the city charter, will be voted on by the people in November, 1902. These, if passed, will enable the city to increase its bonded indebtedness for the purpose of securing adequate revenue.

In the Entire Shaded Section Every Street Not Now Paved With Granite, Brick or Asphaltum Is to Be Reconstructed; Heavy Lines Indicate Unpaved Streets Which Are to Be Paved, or Macadam or Telford Streets Which Are to Be Reconstructed With Granite, Brick or Asphaltum. Proposed Sewers Are Indicated.

GOLFERS GETTING IN FORM FOR ST. LOUIS HONORS IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST SATURDAY

All Organizations in the County Will Be Represented in Week's Tournament Which Is to Be Played on Links of the Country Club.

Lovers of golf will have a chance soon to witness some very close and exciting matches in the tournament to determine the champion of St. Louis. All the golf and country clubs in the city and county will be represented.

The tournament will be held on the links of the St. Louis Country Club, near Clayton. It will begin Saturday and will last a week. On Saturday the qualifying round of 18 holes will be played. This will be medal play. The highest 16 men will qualify for the championship. The next eight men will qualify for class B and the next eight for class C.

On the following Monday the first round of match play for the championship and classes B and C will take place. On Wednesday the second round of all three classes will be played, and on Thursday the semifinals of the championship class will take place.

On Saturday the finals for all classes will take place. These will all be 36-hole matches. There will also be a driving competition in the afternoon of the opening day.

Cups will be given to the winners in three classes, and also to the runner up in the championship class. There will also be a cup for the best score in the qualifying round and a special prize for the winner of the driving contest.

Links Are in Good Condition.

The links at the Country Club are in excellent shape, the green is hard and the grass short. All the lies are good and the bunkers are well placed.

Everything will be done to get the course in the best possible condition by Saturday afternoon.

When all the entries are in it is expected there will be between sixty and seventy men entered. The following clubs will be represented by their strongest players: St. Louis Country Club, St. Louis Field Club, Florissant Valley Country Club, Algonquin Golf Club, St. Louis Fair Association, Normandie Park Club, Log Cabin Club, Glen Echo Country Club and the St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association.

Who will win the tournament is hard to say. It is thought certain that it lies between the two Stickney boys, Ralph McKittrick, Burt McKinnie and Bart Adams. All five are playing strong games, and by Saturday should be at their best.

It is to be regretted that Lambert and Scudder will not be present, as they are two of the best players the city has ever seen.

Stuart Stickney is playing a very strong game at present. Last Saturday he made the course in 38. This is the best he has ever done on the Country Club links, and, in fact, is the best amateur record over these links. His brother, Arthur, is also playing well. He is a long driver and is accurate on his second shot. He got a 39 last year and was considered its longest driver.

Mr. Stickney was on the Yale golf team last year and was considered its largest driver.

McKinnie Makes It in Thirty-Nine.

Bert McKinnie got a 39 yesterday afternoon while he was getting acquainted with the Country Club links. The privileges of the links and club has been extended for one week to those contestants who have made their entries. Every afternoon this week there have been many players out getting acquaintd with the lay of the ground. Fred Semple of the Field Club was out yesterday. He got a 42 for the afternoon's play.

J. G. McGee, Walter Gilliam and many others generally play around every afternoon. Bob Mudd, Will Boyd and Swartz played together yesterday afternoon. Ralph McKittrick is playing his usual steady game. His brother Walter is a veteran at the game and ought to come pretty high up in the qualifying list. Jim Drummond, Syd Walker and Howard Elting all did a round yesterday. They are playing well.

Lindell Gordon made the lowest net score for the Dozier cup yesterday afternoon. He did the 18 holes in a hundred, and with a handicap of ten his net score was 90. Ralph McKittrick was next lowest, with a score of 91.

Bart Adams and Harry Allen are both playing good, strong games. They are expected to finish near the top in the coming tournament.

GOSSIP ABOUT PUGILISTS

President Charles Haughton of the West End Club is preparing his Coliseum for a season of boxing. Extensive alterations of the seating arrangements have been made, and the hall will now accommodate 1000 more than formerly.

Haughton has several fights scheduled, the first being that of Monday night between Dixon and Attell.

Sam Harris says the stories that Terry McGovern is losing his sight are not worrying him. Terry is on the road, giving sparring exhibitions, with his partner Danny Dougherty. Harris is in New York making arrangements for the coming battle between Terry and Young Corbett at the Nutmeg Athletic Club Thanksgiving day.

President Haughton announces as a preliminary to the Attell-Dixon fight a bout between Kid Carric and Billy Myers, a local bantam.

Carric made a good impression in his recent fight with Joe Yanger, and the bout should be interesting.

Dixon is training on a farm at Creve Coeur Lake to make the weight asked in his next match—116 pounds. Dixon met Yanger at a great disadvantage in weights, Yanger having about eight pounds the best of it. With Attell the weight question will be different, and the San Francisco boy may have more trouble in keeping his fistic reputation spotless than he has had before. Dixon, according to report, is the only man Attel has met who has been able to stand him off. Both times they met, draws resulted. If form is counted, the bout should be very even.

Answering the challenge of Al Dugger to meet any local 140-pound man, published in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, Oliver Martell writes that he is willing to accept. Martell's address is 2214 Olive street.

CRAWFORD'S DOG DOES WELL.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FRIEND, Neb., Oct. 24.—Lord Brazen, owned by G. Lacy Crawford of St. Louis, made an excellent showing in the last two days' running of the first rounds of the Mississippi Valley Coursing stake here.

In the 90-dog event, made up of the best greyhounds of America, Crawford's black dog has defeated all its opponents down to the last 12.

Lord Brazen, therefore, has but three more courses to win to capture the stake.

The following courses are set for today:
Don Pedro vs. Lord Blanco.
Prairie Queen vs. Miss Wheatstone.
Prairie Bird vs. Lord Brazen.
Chamberlain vs. Charming Thought.
You Bet vs. Bold Barbarian.

Lord Brazen is by Ben Hur, out of Winning Style, and was purchased by Mr. Crawford from Bartels brothers of Denver. He is a black dog, and is only 18 months old.

The next big coursing meeting of importance will be held at Chicago under the auspices of the Ellerslie Country Club, Evergreen Park. The feature event will be an all aged stake of $5 entry fee with $100 added. D. Basil Hayman of Chicago will judge and E. J. Brown of St. Louis will act as slipper.

The draw for the stake will take place on the morning of Nov. 2, for the accommodation of St. Louis coursers who can thus leave here Friday night.

The stake will be run off Saturday afternoon.

Many of the local coursing enthusiasts have announced their intention to attend.

BASEBALL COMMENT

In the offer of Barney Dreyfuss to Capt. Donovan of the St. Louis National League team to lend the latter two of his best men, the first evidence of a live, aggressive management in the National League appears.

The chief of the Pirates, seeing Donovan's plight as to players for his 1902 club, voluntarily wired the St. Louis management yesterday that if men should be wanting to fill out the Mound City aggregation he could spare two.

Dreyfuss says his offer is made in the interest of the League in general.

"I do not intend to stand by and see the National League disrupted by the American if I can help it," said he.

That is the first declaration from any national club management this season that has any evidence of fight in it.

If the rest of the magnates take a stand on the same ground with Dreyfuss, a substantial resistance may be offered.

The old organization is really in serious danger, notwithstanding the "pooh-pooh" attitude its officials have assumed and the pretense made of taking no notice of it. It has been at last brought to open confession of the threatened defeat and Dreyfuss is its voice.

The constant and wholesale defections of players from the one-time major league's ranks made it apparent to everyone that, unless the gaps in the fences were rapidly plugged up, the stock would all be out soon.

Late, but better than never, the National has also found this out. A little more liberality toward the players and a few more actions of the Dreyfuss stamp and the old League may save itself. Two teams, Philadelphia and St. Louis, have been fairly annihilated by the American's encroachments. There still remain six others to guard.

Donovan will need all the men Dreyfuss can spare him and several that the Pittsburger can not lose.

Patsy is doing the best he can toward bolstering up his crippled club and has recently increased the number of signed players on his staff to 11. The additions are "Germany" Hartman, once discarded by the St. Louis team of 1897, and a brother of Pitcher Joyce O'Neil, who is said to be a catcher of fair ability.

The club is still minus an outfield and what there is of it makes the heart ache over the thought of what the Pittsburgs would do to it.

The acquisition of Hartman will send Oom Paul Kruger to short, Hartman being reserved for the third corner. The first game played by this combination will be interesting. How Kruger can fill Wallace's shoes is a problem that one would go far to see demonstrated.

Hartman might be worse. He has had two seasons with Comiskey's pennant winners in Chicago and performed fairly. He batted .315 and fielded moderately well.

Yet, while Donovan's team is wanting in many essentials to strength, the American League St. Louis team is far from being in the settled condition announced recently by McAleer and others.

Late reports from Milwaukee say another vain attempt was made by Ban Johnson and the American League authorities to secure the franchise and players of the Killea team.

Killilea realizes that he is at the point of vantage and states that he will hold his place in the American League circuit or get the price he asks for his holdings.

The Milwaukee men may come to St. Louis, but they may be dearly bought.

BOWLING NEWS.

YESTERDAYS RESULTS.

Mound City League—Van Dykes 3, Spencers 2; Republics 3, Blue Ribbons 2.

World's Fair League—Towers 5, Hickorys 0; Shenandoahs 5, Black Labels 0; Dolmans 3, Blue Tops 2.

Junior Association—Regents 3, Ivanhoes 2; Debutantes 4, Tigers 1.

Ten-Pin League—Imperials 3, Libertys 0.

Phenix Bowling League—Moglers 4, Stroehers 1; Wunches 4, Hormes 1.

The best game on any of the alleys last night was that between the Van Dykes and the Spencers. When the battle had ended, the Van Dykes had won three games to the enemy's two, but a margin of only five pins separated the teams.

The Van Dykes had all the bad breaks, however, and their victory was deserved.

Meier of the Van Dykes was in excellent form and finished the evening with an average of 59. Black of the losing team and Brunswick of the Van Dykes made excellent showings, both averaging over 53.

The Republics and the Blue Ribbons of the same league also played a close match, the four winning out by 11 pins and the odd game. The Blue Ribbons had the match to themselves on their form shown in three of the games. In the remaining two they could not pick off the necessary one and, in one contest, made a team score of [illegible]—very poor for the Ribbons. Braun of the Blue Ribbons was the only man of the team who was able to make over a 50 average.

VOLODYOVSKI WON RICH STAKE.

With Johnnie Reiff Up He Captured Sandown Foal Event.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—William C. Whitney's Volodyovski (J. Reiff) won the Sandown foal stakes of 2000 sovereigns, for 3-year-olds, distance about one mile and five furlongs, at the Sandown Park autumn meeting today.

Transparency was second and Dundonald (Maher) finished third. Five horses ran.

FOOTBALL COMMENT.

SATURDAY'S GAMES.

Dartmouth vs. Bowdoin, at Portland.
Cornell vs. Oberlin, at Ithaca.
Wisconsin vs. Kansas, at Madison.
Purdue vs. Indiana, at Bloomington.
Notre Dame vs. Beloit, at Beloit.
Northwestern vs. Illinois, at Evanston.
Nebraska vs. Ames, at Lincoln.
Michigan vs. Buffalo, at Ann Arbor.
Minnesota vs. Iowa, at Minneapolis.
C. B. C. vs. McKndree, at Lebanon.

LOCAL GAMES.

Washington vs. Lake Forest, at Athletic Park
Smith Academy vs. Schurtleff College.
St. Louis University vs. Barnes Medics, at Handlan Park.
Manual Training School vs. Belleville High, at Athletic Park.
High School vs. Blees' Military Academy, at C. B. C. campus.

The first football games of real importance will be played Saturday when Yale and Columbia meet in the East and Pennsylvania and Chicago line up in the West.

Nearly all the colleges have opponents of better class than they faced early in the season. Princeton takes on Lafayette and will doubtless have to play its best article of football to run up a score. Harvard, too, will try against the Carlisle Indians, the team that it cost Cornell so dearly to win from last Saturday.

The result of the games of the big four is a foregone conclusion. Harvard seems to have the hardest battle of the day, but will hardly have as difficult a proposition as it had with West Point last Saturday. Pennsylvania should walk over Chicago and Columbia is too weak to make Yale worry over the outcome of the engagement.

The score of Pennsylvania against Chicago, as compared with that made by Illinois University against Stagg's team Saturday, will furnish a line, although somewhat circuitous, on the comparative strength of the good western and eastern teams of the season.

Pennsylvania departed yesterday evening for Chicago, in order to have a day's rest up at the Windy City.

Washington University, harried by troubles and with dampened spirits, caused by the ruling out of several of its players, will once more line up for a probable defeat. Lake Forest comes from a football neighborhood, and, according to reports, has a fair team. Unless Clarke has been able to turn a miracle or two in the past week, another bad day appears to be in prospect.

The never ending trouble of the standing of players has cropped up in the controversy between C. B. C. and St. Louis University. C. B. C. is strictly amateur this season and is insisting that the post graduates of the St. Louis University eleven are not eligible to play under the four-year rule. William Dillon is the particular player against whom this protest is aimed. Dillon is worth bowling out of the way, if C. B. C. is to meet the 'varsity. He is one of the best players, and his experience, which dates beyond the time limit, would make him an important factor in the contest.

C. B. C. announces that no game will be arranged with the university if post graduates are permitted to play.

As this is to be about the only local game of the season to which particular interest attaches, it is unfortunate that the trouble has occurred.

Perhaps C. B. C. is strong enough to make the varsity a concession and may recede from its position. The game would prove a drawing card and it would be worth the while of both teams to make sacrifices to arrange it.

A man leaving St. Louis at 8:50 p. m. today will reach Joplin at 7:55 tomorrow morning, provided his ticket reads via the Frisco system. Or he can leave St. Louis at 10 p. m. and arrive at Joplin at 10:05 a. m. next day, via same route.

CRESCEUS OUT FOR RECORD.

King of Trotters Will Try to Lower His 2:09 1-2 Time Today.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—Cresceus will go against his record of 2:09½ for a mile over a half-mile course this afternoon at the Kansas City Driving Club's track. The track and weather conditions this morning were considered perfect, and Mr. Ketcham, owner, driver and trainer of the king of trotters, expressed his belief that Cresceus would make a new record.

TODAY'S CARD FAIR

AN AVERAGE LOT OF THOROUGHBREDS WILL START AT FAIR GROUNDS.

OGLE AND MARION LYNCH

Felix Bard and Nettie Regent Should Annex the Principal Events of the Card.

FAIR GROUNDS SELECTIONS.

First Race—Kilimandscharo, Leflare, Sting.
Second Race—Elsie Barnes, Marcy, Terra Incognita.
Third Race—Ogle, Tenny Belle, Royal Athlete.
Fourth Race—Felix Bard, Oudenarde, Irving Mayor.
Fifth Race—Nettie Regent, Glenwood, Kazan.
Sixth Race—Marion Lynch, Grantor, Nearest.

The customary six races are scheduled for this afternoon.

They are hardly up to the standard of Wednesday's events, but as they are fairly well balanced, good contests should result.

The sport will commence with a six and one-half furlong dash for 2-year-olds. Six of the nine candidates have won either at the Fair Grounds or at Delmar, and are, therefore, deserving of consideration.

Sir Tom Tiddler is the only one who seems to have no chance.

On his race last Monday in which he carried 108 pounds, Kilimandscharro looks to be the best. On that occasion he got off next to last, ran through his field in splendid style, and won, going away by two open lengths.

He only carries 100 pounds today. With this light impost and considering the easy way he won, he should repeat his victory.

Leflare has been running second and third so frequently that he should at least do as well today with Sting a keen contender for second position.

Elsie Barnes figures well in the second race, and, with a good ride, should capture the purse. If Terra Incognita was as good as he was about a month ago, he would have no trouble in winning, but he seems to have gone back. For that reason Marcy must be selected to beat him for the place.

On figures, on performance, on class, on everything by which the merits of a racehorse can be judged, Ogle looks to have the third race at his mercy. On Monday last he ran this distance with 112 pounds up and galloped the whole way, winning in fast time.

The fact that he is in against an all-aged field cuts no figure, because he outclasses them all, and, with 103 pounds up, he should run the distance in 1:08 or better if he is hard pressed. Tenny Belle and Royal Athlete may be his closest attendants at the wire.

The fine race run by Felix Bard Tuesday should put him on edge for today's contest, in which he will be asked to go a mile and seventy yards. He might have won his last out, but his rider, Shaw, was of no earthly use to him, and if he has a good jockey up today he should annex the fourth.

Oudenarde is always dangerous in any company, and should not be worse than second. He is bred by the great English stallion, Oddfellow, and that fact counts for something in his favor.

Nettie Regent is in fine shape now and, with J. Daly up, should repeat her victory of Tuesday.

Glenwood ran a good second to Charles D. Wednesday, being beaten only by a neck, and, as the mile was run in 1:41, with two pounds off today, he will be dangerous.

Kazan does not seem to fancy this distance, his best races being run at six furlongs, but nevertheless he should be in the money.

The horse that beats Marion Lynch in the last race will get the money. She is a high-class mare, can go the route, and is fast and game. There are some crack sprinters engaged against her and she will have no easy task. Grantor and Nearest figure to be her most dangerous contenders and should be close up at the finish.

Fair Grounds Notes.

P. M. Civil has a good filly in Chantrelle, the daughter of Charaxus and Ada Belle. She was entered in a field of 13 in the first race Wednesday, got off in front, led into the stretch by two lengths and passed under the wire an easy winner by three lengths.

The fight between Maxille and Mr. Timberlake for the place in the first race was exciting. They were neck and neck for an eighth of a mile, and Maxille seemed to foul Mr. Timberlake. Fauntleroy, who rode Maxille, crowded Irvin to the rail, but no claim of foul was made, and the numbers were hung out as they finished.

Picador figured to win the second race. Oct. 7 he carried 108 pounds and won at a mile and an eighth in the very fast time of 1:54½. The mile on that occasion was run in 1:41½. Wednesday he had only 101 pounds up, and he could hardly run fast enough to keep himself warm. Before the meeting ends, he will probably run a different race when he will not be favorite.

Clales gave a severe shock to the talent in the third race. He was at the longest odds, Orleans being a pronounced favorite at less than 2 to 1. The favorite finished last and the long shot was first. Kindred gave him the hardest battle of his life, being only beaten for first place by a head. The time recorded for the race, 1:13¾, was very fast. To the unprejudiced observer it looked as if Fauntleroy, the smart colored rider, outrode Troxler.

Clales and Brulare both won yesterday at varying distances, but their relative merits are yet undecided and will probably remain so during this season.

Ethylene proved Wednesday that her previous race was no fluke. She tiptoed her field for six and a half furlongs, and covered the distance in the remarkably fast time of 1:20½ for a 2-year-old. Huntressa, although beaten, probably ran the best race, as she carried top weight and started in sixth position. She is a grand filly.

Brulare surprised everybody by winning at a mile and a sixteenth. All this summer and fall she has run in only six and six and a half furlongs and it was thougat that any distance over a mile would be too much for her. She proved, however, that she can go a route by defeating such cracks as Petit Maitre and Peaceful. The latter horse ran a very bad race.

Old Randazzo was tipped everywhere to win the last race. His price was held steadily at 2 to 1. In a field of fifteen he got off in fourteenth position and no matter how good he may have been his chances were destroyed by the start. He was a false favorite anyhow and the bookies profited largely by his defeat.

POST-DISPATCH COMPLETE DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS

GRAIN WAS UNSTEADY

AFTER MAKING GOOD GAINS THE MARKET EASED OFF.

NORTHWEST RECEIPTS FAIR

Cables Reported Argentine Drouth Unbroken, and All Foreign Markets Closed With Strong Gains.

The grain markets were very irregular today. Wheat sold ⅛@¼c above the close yesterday and corn from ⅝@½c to ¾c, when there came a break and most of the gains were lost. Oats ruled firm on cash buying and closed with a gain of ⅛c. Wheat closed unchanged to ⅛@¼c up and corn ⅝c.

The cash demand for wheat and corn was fair, but not so good as yesterday. Chicago yesterday sold 120,000 bu of wheat for export, 164,000 bu of corn and 150,000 bu of oats. Southwest houses were fair buyers today.

The wheat and flour clearances today were better than for some time, being 680,000 bu. The primary receipts were not much larger than a year ago.

Liverpool made a fair response to the American advance yesterday. Wheat opened firm and ⅛d to ⅜d higher at Liverpool, covering by shorts the principal factor. During the morning the undertone continued firm and with light pit offerings a further slight advance of ⅛d to ¼d occurred. Corn opened firm at ½d advance on the strength in the American market. Later a further gain of ⅛d to ¼d was made, due to shorts covering, wheat and corn closed ⅜d higher than yesterday. With the exception of Paris, which closed ¼c off to ¼c up, all the other foreign markets were very strong. Berlin, Antwerp and Budapest gained ⅝c.

After opening higher than yesterday wheat and corn sold off, had a sharp rally and then weakened again.

All the Argentine cables reported that the drouth remains unbroken. The corn crop outlook is said to be very promising.

For more than a week no rain has fallen in the wheat states. The temperatures have been moderate and now the trade is beginning to say that unless rain falls soon the young wheat will be injured.

Wheat did not respond to the bull news after the opening. Instead Chicago bulls got scared and sold wheat and corn below yesterday's close. This was done on news from the Northwest to the effect that if the favorable weather continued the spring wheat movement would increase. Though fine weather has prevailed for more than a week, the receipts were not large today, when compared with those of a year ago, when the crop was small. Today they were 600 cars, only 13 more than last year.

The local market opened with Dec. up ⅛c at 72⅜c and May ⅛@¼c at 75½c. Dec. eased off to 72⅛c, yesterday's close, and then rallied to 72¼@72⅜c. May sold off to 75⅛c. Northwest buying and the cash demand were factors in sending Dec. up to 72⅜c and May to 75½c. A decline followed and Dec. went down to 72¼@72⅛c, sold up to 72¼c and closed unchanged from yesterday at 72⅛c. Trading in May was light and this option dropped from 75½c to 75⅛c, which was asked at the close, only ⅛@¼c above yesterday's close.

The Cincinnati Price Current says that the wheat crop is doing well and that in only limited areas is it needing rain.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis today were 54,558 bu, compared with 72,890 bu a year ago. Of these 2559 sacks and 59 cars were local and 2 cars through, compared with 2529 sacks and 81 cars local and 3 cars through the same date a year ago.

Receipts of wheat at primary points today were 945,083 bu, as compared with 939,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 426,647 bu, compared with 934,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth were 600 cars, as compared with 587 cars same date last year.

Dec. wheat sold today at 72⅜c, 72¼@72⅜c, 72¼c, 72¼@72⅛c, 72¼c, 72¼@72⅜c, 72¼@72¼c, 72@72⅜c, 72¼c, 72¼@72⅜c, 72⅛c, 72⅜c, 72¼@72¼c, 72¼c, 72¼@72¼c, 72¼@72⅛c, 72¼c, 72⅛@72¼c, 72¼c, 72⅜c, 72¼c and 72⅛c.

May sales: 75½c, 75¼c, 75⅜c and 75⅛c.

The Cincinnati Price Current says that the husking returns show no general change in the corn yield indications. There was a fair cash demand from Southwest houses and the clearances were 115,000 bu. The primary receipts were 131,000 bu less than a year ago. There was considerable short buying after the market had sold off early, but liquidation was resumed on the advance and most of the gains were canceled.

There was a good demand at the opening and Dec. sold unchanged at 57c. May opened ⅛c up at 59⅜c. Dec. sold up to 57⅛c, dropped to 56⅞c. May sold off to 59¼c. The strength in wheat, the clearances and the cash demand here and at Chicago started a rally in corn. Dec. sold up to 57⅜c without a check. Profit-taking caused a break to 57⅜c, which was bid at the close, a gain of ⅜c.

May advanced steadily to 59⅝c, ⅜@½c above yesterday. Then the weakness in Dec. and in wheat caused a decline which carried the price down to 59⅝c, which was asked at the close, a gain of only 1-16c.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis today were 43,200 bu, compared with 56,300 bu a year ago. Of these 49 cars were local and 5 cars through, compared with 120 sacks and 44 cars local and 26 cars through the same date a year ago.

Receipts of corn at primary points today were 280,460 bu, compared with 411,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments 231,794 bu, compared with 748,000 bu same date last year.

Dec. corn sold at 57c, 57⅛c, 57c, 57⅛c, 57c, 56⅞c, 57c, 57¼@57⅛c, 57⅛c, 57¼@57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57½c, 57⅜c, 57⅛c, 57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57¼@57⅜c, 57⅛c, 57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57⅜c, 57½@57⅜c, 57½c, 57⅜@57⅛c and 57⅜c.

May sales: 59⅝c, 59¼c, 59⅜c, 59½c, 59⅝@59½c, 59¼c, 59⅜c, 59⅛@59⅜c, 59⅜c, 59½c, 59⅜c, 59⅜c, 59⅝c and 59⅝c.

Oats were active and steady, with good buying in Chicago. May opened unchanged at 39⅛c and sold up to 39¼c.

The market ruled firm on a good cash demand at Chicago and May closed with a gain of ⅛c at 39⅛c bid. The primary receipts were 75,000 bu more than a year ago.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis today were 34,800 bu compared with 59,150 bu a year ago. Of these 49 cars were local and 5 cars through, compared with 310 sacks and 45 cars local and 26 cars through the same date a year ago.

Receipts of oats at primary points today were 327,206 bu, as compared with 252,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 351,909 bu, compared with 639,000 bu same date last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Improving Liverpool cables, following the advance here yesterday, started liberal offerings of wheat today on a somewhat dull market. Dec. opened ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c higher at 71⅜@71½c, but under the early pressure sagged off to 70⅞@71c. It soon reacted, however, to yesterday's closing price and hovered around 71⅛c on some purchases by prominent bulls. In general, the early part of the session was a sore disappointment to bull enthusiasm, but lacking any special bullish influences many of the bulls took advantage of the bulge and made profits. Local receipts were 88 cars, 1 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 600 cars, making a total for the three points of 688 cars, against 744 last week and 733 a year ago.

Reports of a renewed movement in the Northwest and liquidation eased Dec. wheat to 70⅞c. A small upturn in corn, however, brought prices back fairly, and Dec. closed steady, a shade lower at 71c.

The corn pit opened steady and higher on cables, with a good demand and very little for sale early. There was a general bullish feeling and Dec. started a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 56½c to 56⅝c. Husking returns still were reported poor, but the hard selling in wheat brought a slump and Dec. sold off to 56¼c. Receipts were 157 cars.

Dec. corn sold at one time at 56⅛c, but renewed buying on poor crop reports brought a sharp advance to 56⅞@57c. Dec. closed firm, ¼c higher at 56⅝@56⅞c.

Oats were active and slightly firmer at the opening, especially for the May account. Most of the selling was by shippers taking advantage of the strength gained through other grains. There was a good demand, both from commission houses and pit traders. Dec. was not quoted until late and then started unchanged at 35½c. Receipts were 133 cars.

Provisions started steady and a shade higher, influenced by grains, but sold off on a small depression in hog prices. Jan. pork opened 5c higher at $15.15 and sold to $15.12½; Jan. lard 5s up at $8.97½ to $9 and eased to $8.92½, and Jan. ribs unchanged to 2½c up at $7.85 to $7.87½, and sold to $7.82½.

OPENING MARKET IRREGULAR

It Was Characterized by Large Dealings in St. Paul, Union Pacific and Copper.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The market opened active and irregular, with large dealings in St. Paul, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper.

St. Paul sold at 170 to 169⅝ on the transfer of 3500 shares, compared with 170 last night.

Union Pacific on the sale of 2500 shares was quoted at 102⅜ to 102⅛, compared with 102⅝ last night. Amalgamated Copper ran off nearly a point. Price changes otherwise were small and much mixed.

Professional operators realized heavily but, as this selling had little effect on prices, the bulls bid the market up all around.

While the rallies in the leaders reached in some cases a point from the lowest, St. Paul, Atchison, Chicago, Great Western and the Pacifics ruled only a small fraction above yesterday's close.

Baltimore & Ohio was unusually active and gained 2¼. Chicago, Great Western preferred B rose 4⅛ to 50.

The Eries and Readings also rose strongly. Heavy selling of Sugar, Amalgamated, Union Pacific and St. Paul had depressed them over a point by 11 o'clock and the entire market weakened.

General selling followed the room traders' realizing movement, resulting in earlier gains being generally wiped out and putting St. Paul, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Northwest, Amalgamated Copper and People's Gas 1 to 1⅛ under last night. Wisconsin Central, Glucose and Colorado Fuel were exceptionally advanced 1 to 1⅛. The weakness of the general market was accentuated by large sales of the United States Steel stocks. Bonds were irregular.

Brooklyn Transit advanced a point in the face of heavy selling elsewhere, but its rise was soon canceled. The general selling was largest in St. Paul, Union Pacific and People's Gas, which ruled from 2 to 2½ below their best prices. Chicago Great Western preferred B reacted 2½ and losses in other stocks of a point and over were numerous. Speculation was very dull at 1 o'clock, and prices were slightly above the lowest in sympathy with a rise of 5 in Lackawanna and 2⅜ in Delaware & Hudson.

The demand for the coalers was extended to Jersey Central, Ontario & Western, Erie second preferred and Reading common and second preferred, which improved 1@2 points. The general market did not show much sympathy, and there was evidence of selling under cover of the rise. When the buying of the coal stocks slackened bear operators sold the railroads and industrials and prices fell away again, in some instances to the lowest.

NO. 2 WINTER WHEAT PROBLEM

Millers at Home and Abroad Are Grinding This Grade, Which Is Become an Important Factor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—In explanation of the recent action of the Produce Exchange whereby No. 2 hard winter wheat has been approved as a contract grade after June 1, 1902, N. R. Shoonmaker, a member of the committee having the matter in charge, said:

"Within a few short months we have actually found this condition of affairs existing. It was shown before the committee that millers abroad, as well as at home, were changing their machinery to grind No. 2 hard winter wheat and that No. 2 hard winter was steadily growing in favor as it became known.

"The wheat trade of the country has been almost revolutionized or evolutionized in the past 15 years and rules that were adequate 20 years ago must be modified or amended to meet new conditions. Fifteen or 20 years ago the large exportable surplus of winter wheat came from what is now known as the Middle West, but with the development of the Southwest this condition has entirely changed. In the last five years of our grain trade, it is safe to say, a large percentage of the winter wheat exported has come from the Southwest. This being so, why should not this new wheat be admitted to our grade and the business based on its marketing and distribution be enjoyed by us? A simple and happy solution of this problem is to make the standard reasonably high and then maintain it always. A buyer will then know that whatever happens he will always get a high grade of wheat on contract. With three different varieties of wheat from widely separated sections of the country—all high grade—it will be possible for us always to hold our standard up to one level, and that a high one."

IRON TRADE IS BOOMING.

No Export Demand, but Orders at Home Are Enormous.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24.—The Iron Trade Review, discussing the market conditions this week, says:

"The week has brought [illegible] added strength to the situation; whatever of easier conditions is to be encountered later on, there is no foreshadowing of it in actual events. No revival of export trade is in sight, but home demand is so broad and so strong that iron and steel manufacturers speak confidently of the first half of 1902, while many do not hesitate to predict another year of pronounced prosperity. The one overshadowing feature of the iron trade today in all departments is the unprecedented friction resulting from the failure of the railroads to provide for the freight offered them.

"The story of car shortage is so familiar as to lose its force, but the present congestion is without parallel in the records of 1899, and with many manufacturers and consumers is the uppermost question, beyond any consideration of prices or production. No relief is in sight before the close of the navigation season when the pressure ceases from the ore and coal trades, both of which, like other lines, are today seriously handicapped. In some instances the failure of transportation facilities has actually reduced production in iron working lines, and many foundries daily face the alternative of shutting down.

"The mills that were closed by the steel strike have made no great headway as yet in replenishing the stocks in distributers' hands, depleted in the weeks of shutdown, and will pass into the new year under full headway, with prospects of operation throughout the winter at the present record pace.

"The strong factors in the situation that have been pointed out week by week seem to be emphasized.

"The railroads have placed rail contracts that insure the operation of the United States Steel Corporation's rail mills up to September, 1902, and the presumption is that other producers are not far behind. The Pennsylvania railroad's 150,000 tons of rails, it is reported, are to be distributed among mills on its lines as heretofore. Including this the business booked and carried over runs to fully 1,500,000 tons. Second in importance only to rails is the tonnage booked by structural mills, each week adding to the excess of bookings over shipments."

New York Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Range of transactions in cotton future markets today was contracted quite a good deal by the lukewarm advices received from abroad, clear and favorable weather in the South and rather unexpectedly large arrivals at port and interior towns.

Prices were carried down 1 to 3 points at the opening by easier cables from Liverpool and information ascribing apathetic spot demand and light sales to excellent climatic conditions.

Receipts at the ports for this week were estimated at over 425,000 bales, and this increase forecast was a depressing factor.

There was very little market movement in forenoon and later, when large predictions for tomorrow were made, a further decline of from 2 to 3 points was recorded, the final hour figures being 2 to 5 under Wednesday's closing quotations.

KITTEN SWALLOWS A HAT PIN

Mrs. George Wright's Four-Months-Old Pet Saved by Surgeon's Skill.

The 4-months-old kitten belonging to George Wright, a barber at 1019A Vandeventer avenue, nearly ended its nine lives at once when it swallowed a long hat pin belonging to Mrs. Wright.

James Stallard of 3925 Page avenue was the impromptu surgeon whose skill made it possible for kittie to escape eight points to the good in the feline life record.

The kitten was playing in Mrs. Wright's room Tuesday afternoon when its owner was startled by its sudden howls and wild running over the floor. She diagnosed the case as being plain fits and called her husband. Wright caught the animal and found the pin in its throat.

He tried to get it out, but could not, and as kittie's pain was increasing he decided to kill her.

In his shop he met Stallard, and told him of the accident.

"Don't think of killing her yet," said Stallard; "let me see what I can do."

The kitten was given chloroform. Stallard made an incision in the throat and with a pair of pinchers drew out the pin. The wound was then covered with court-plaster.

TRANSFER CO. STRIKE IS OFF.

Compromise Ends Trouble and 200 Strikers Return to Work.

At a meeting of local teamsters' union No. 179, held Wednesday night in a hall at Broadway and Biddle street, the strike against the St. Louis Transfer Co. was declared off.

The strike was announced Sept. 15.

Thursday morning 200 of the men who had quit work returned.

W. Mahaney, a member of the union, said to the Post-Dispatch that nearly all of the strikers had been re-employed, and that the others would be put to work soon.

The action of the union Wednesday night followed the receipt of a letter from President George J. Tansey of the transfer company, in which he offered to re-employ all the former teamsters of the company at an advance of $2 per month over their former salary, which was $50.

The demand of the union was originally for $55, but a majority of the teamsters voted to accept the compromise.

He is about 40 years of age and is well known in the army, having been 19 years in the domestic and foreign service. He is married and has several children. His arrest, he says, is a surprise to him. TO FOLLOW WEYLER'S TACTICS

All Natives of Samar Not Known to Be Peaceful Will Become Reconcentrados.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The campaign in Samar Island is to be "vigorous." A modification of Gen. Weyler's famous reconcentration order is to be put into practice in the island. All natives not well known to the American commanders or unable to assure them that they are peaceful, will be required to live with the military line until order is restored.

The two surprises of Ninth Infantry men have caused this plan of concentration to be put into operation. By a rigid enforcement of it the turbulent element can be kept from roaming and plotting bolo rushes upon isolated posts.

LONG FLIGHT FUTILE

BURGLAR HUNTED FOR FOUR YEARS HAS BEEN CAUGHT.

CHICAGO DIAMOND ROBBER

B. A. Spaulding, Wanted for Daring Daylight Holdup, Now a Prisoner in Kansas City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—After wandering across practically all of the states between Illinois and the Pacific coast, escaping from the police of a dozen or more cities by means of various forms of trumped up technicalities and eluding Chicago detectives, who were constantly on his trail for four years, Burt A. Spaulding, alleged leader of the old gang of burglars who stole diamonds valued at $3500 from the residence of Maurice Epstein of 4444 Wabash avenue, was captured in Kansas City yesterday afternoon.

Fearing that Spaulding would succeed in getting away again, Chief O'Neill lost no time when word came of his capture. He sent Policeman Conick to Kansas City last night, and the much-wanted man will be brought back to Chicago as soon as the necessary legal forms can be gone through. The police are elated over the capture, because much time and a great deal of money has been wasted in following Spaulding in his long flight, covering thousands of miles of territory.

Several times during the four years that the search for Spaulding has been going on telegrams have been received at police headquarters saying that he was in custody and asking if he was still wanted here. Before replies could be sent, however, another message would arrive declaring that although Spaulding had been located he had left town and nothing was known of his whereabouts.

Circulars with Spaulding's description were sent all over the West, where he was believed to have gone after the Chicago robbery, and with persistent regularity announcement would be made that he had been captured. Sometimes he was located in an out-of-the way mining town. On two or three occasions extradition papers were being prepared when word came that Spaulding had secured his release through habeas corpus proceedings and had again disappeared.

Chicago police had about given up all hope of ever capturing him when Chief O'Neill received a telegram from Kansas City yesterday afternoon saying that a man had been picked up there who answered the description of Spaulding, that he had been booked as a fugitive from justice, and would be held pending the arrival of a messenger from Chicago.

CONVICTED OF ARSON

C. H. ALEXANDER OF DALLAS SENTENCED FOR FIVE YEARS.

ONCE A STREET CAR MAGNATE

He Was on $25,000 Bond for Murder When His Complicity in Firebug Plot Was Proven.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 24.—C. H. Alexander, former president of the Dallas Consolidated Electric Street Railroad Co., and now president and general manager of one of the oil and land companies of Beaumont, Tex., has been convicted of arson and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. It was proved that he hired Hiram R. Erwin to burn a building in Dallas on the night of Dec. 27, 1895, which Alexander and associates owned and on which there was $15,000 insurance. Erwin was convicted of the burning several months ago and sentenced to five years' imprisonment, but secured a new trial.

On the night of Dec. 19, 1898, Maj. I. G. Randle, one of Alexander's business associates, was killed by Erwin, while he stod talking in Main street, Dallas, with Alexander. Erwin was acquitted of murder on the plea of self-defense. Alexander was also tried for murder in conection with Randle's death. A hung jury resulted, and his case is set to be tried again on Nov. 4. Until his present trial for arson came on, Alexander was out on $25,000 bail on the murder charge. He is now in jail.

Hamburg-American Ships to Make Regular Trips From San Francisco.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 24.—Capt. W. W. Diehlenberg of the Kosmos liner Rameses says that San Diego and San Francisco are to be made ports of call for the Hamburg-American line of steamers, and that the steamers of that line are under instructions to take cargo for these ports from all the southern and central American ports.

Asked as to the relations between the Kosmos and the Hamburg-American lines, the captain replied that all business would be done in the name of the Kosmos company, but that, for the present, two distinct lines would be maintained, and that this arrangement would be continued so long as business warrants.
